OUR THEATRES.

OPERA HOUSE.—The "Land of the Midnight Sun" will be the bill presented this evening. The play has been successfully presented in large cities, and it has just closed a successful engagement in Boston. The advance sale has been good.

A delight to the ladies in the presentation of Lester Wallack's military drama, "Rosedale," by the Grand Opera House Company at the Opera house on Oct. 19, 20 and 21, will be the very fetching gowns worn by Miss Sadie Martinot in the role of Rose Leigh. Miss Martinot has always borne the reputation of being a most lavish and artistic dresser upon the American stage. On this occasion she has had prepared some really lovely toilettes. In the third act, in the scene where she teaches Eliot Grey that delightful old English song, "Lord Bateman was a noble lord," she will wear a gown which sets off her girlish figure and displays the art of the dressmaker perhaps better than any costume seen upon the stage of this town.

The five act sensational comedy drama, "The Hand of Fate," drew a large and well pleased audience last evening. The plot is a romantic one. Percy Melden and Miss Ethel Tucker sustained the leading parts.

Grand Democratic Rally To-night.

HYMENEAL.

Mr. John Corbett, employed by Michael Corbett on Gorham street, was married last Tuesday, in St. Cecilia's church, Back Bay, Boston, to Miss Katharine Crangle of that city, and formerly employed at the rectory of St. Patrick's church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard Barry. They have taken up their residence on Hosford square.

PERSONAL.

John F. McGovern, the well known and popular hackman, started yesterday for the World's Fair, and will be gone for three weeks. He has agreed to bring home many souvenirs of the fair to his friends. George Dunn will conduct his business in his absence.

Mr. John Fitzgerald of Mill Village, Nova Scotia is spending his vacation with his daughter, Mrs. Jeremiah Harrington of Stackpole street. This is the first time Mr. Fitzgerald has ever been on Uncle Sam's territory and what he has seen of it pleases him very much; he has been overseer of the fisheries of Port Medway river and harbor for 22 years and is a justice of the peace. He is remarkably hale and spry for a gentleman of his age. He was delighted to see THE SUN press as he was a subscriber of the paper for five years.

Dennis F. Murphy has been elected for the second time president of the class of '97, Holy Cross college.

Mr. Edward Fowler, the well known restaurant keeper of Centralville, M. J. Boulger and several other gentlemen went hunting yesterday afternoon, and the size of the bag of game which they carried home shows the remarkable markmanship of Mr. Fowler.

The engagement is announced of Edward Kittredge and Miss Marcia S. Nichols.

John W. Oates, a former Lowell resident, has been transferred as an officer from the house of correction to the state prison.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Moore of San Jose, Cal., arrived in town yesterday, and will spend a few days here with relatives. Mr. Moore was formerly a resident of Lowell, but has been absent 20 years.

Quincy and Williams at Huntington Hall, To-night.

AN ADDITION

TO BE MADE TO ST. JOHN'S HOSPITAL.

Arrangements for a More Expensive Surgical Department to Cost $9,000.

Owing to the great increase in the amount of surgical work at Lowell's greatest charity, St. John's hospital, it has been decided to build an addition, to be devoted entirely to that particular line of work. For more than twenty-five years this institution has been a blessing to the sick and unfortunate of Lowell, and while in its day the building has been amply large to accommodate all its patients, but with the growth of the city, the number of cases of sickness and accidents has grown in proportion, and under present circumstances the building has been found too small for its purpose, namely, to give each patient all the advantages of a modern hospital.

Thus the annex will be constructed to meet all modern requirements, and yesterday the work of excavating preparatory to laying the foundation was begun. The dimensions are 40 by 26 feet, three stories and a basement. The latter will have a dining room for nurses, a laboratory for the house officer, and an extra store room which is much needed. On the first floor will be the apartments in which analyses will be made and bacteriological work done. It will contain the emergency department for the treating of accidents, and every facility will be provided for the comfort of patients and convenience of surgeons. There will also be a lavatory for doctors, etherizing and sterilizing rooms and a private room with two beds for patients whose condition after an operation is such as to make isolation necessary.

The second floor will contain a well appointed pharmacy. There is a great demand for medicine at the hospital and in this any prescription may be filled. There will be three rooms for patients on this floor.

On the third floor will be the operating room for women, a branch of surgery which has grown rapidly of late at the hospital. There are but few institutions of the kind which have had so many cases of ovariotomy and similar operations as St. John's, for Lowell doctors have a reputation for abdominal surgery that is widely extended. This floor will also have two rooms for patients and etherizing and sterilizing rooms. In the surgical departments the floors will be of a strong substance, and the walls of soapstone finish, so that they can be thoroughly washed at any time. They have all the tables, etc., needed and nothing essential will be lacking. It is intended to have the annex entirely modern and capable of attending all kinds of cases.

The architect is Mr. F. W. Stickney, and the estimated cost is $9000 and that expenditure will bring St. John's hospital in line with the best institutions of the country. Only the foundation work has been given out and Mr. P. O'Hearn is doing that. Other contracts are being figured and the work will be rushed as fast as possible.

Notes.

Thomas Dolan, the victim of Saturday night's stabbing affray, is slowly recovering.

James Sheridan, who some time ago received severe injuries to his head, the result it is alleged of being pushed out of a barroom, is about all right physically, though his mind is somewhat confused. He is still at the institution and the physicians have hopes of his recovery.

SUPERIOR COURT.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES.

Mr. Donohoe Wins in the Ward Three Contest—Other Wards.

The democrats of the city assembled in their respective ward rooms last evening to nominate candidates for representative honors. Ward Three was the scene of battle. In the other wards there was no opposition to the candidate in each; and, therefore, all interest centred in the banner ward. Over 1400 ballots were cast in that ward, and when the ballots were counted it was found that Owen M. Donohoe was the successful candidate.

Ward One.

The caucus in this ward was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock. Ex-representative M. J. Garvey was chosen chairman and James H. Smith secretary. Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., in a well worded address eulogistic of the excellent services rendered by Mr. Murphy, moved that he be nominated for representative by acclamation. Councilman O'Brien and James H. Smith seconded the nomination, and the motion was unanimously carried.

Ward Two.

Fisher H. Pearson presided over the caucus here and Thomas J. McLaughlin was secretary. John H. Harrington placed in nomination Mr. John G. Gordon and Peter A. Fay, Esq., seconded the nomination. Mr. Gordon was then unanimously chosen as the democratic nominee for representative.

Ward Three.

There was a grand contest up in this ward. From the time the polls opened at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon till they closed at 10 o'clock in the evening, there was a continual stream of voters pouring up to the ballot box, James Owens, Esq. was chairman; Councilman O'Connor secretary and Peter J. Brady, ballot distributer. The voters came in droves; and clubs marched to the polls to cast their ballots for Owen M, Donohoe This continued till a Donohoe delegation made their appearance carrying with them a large banner. They created a great furore and marched up to the polls to cast their ballots for their favorite candidate. It was after 1 o'clock before the ballots were counted, and when the result was announced, there was a great uproar. Donahoe's friends congratulated each other, and expressed the greatest satisfaction at the vote received for their favorite.

Here is the vote cast for each candidate:

Owen M. Donohoe	559
Charles L. Marren	242
James Howard	226
Patrick J. Baxter	191
John J. Gilbride	169
Total number of votes	1387
Blanks	18

The nomination of Mr. Donohoe was made unanimous and C. L. Marren made a brief address counselling loyalty to all democratic nominees and exhorting the voters to work hard for the election of Peter J. Brady.

In this ward delegates were chosen to a convention to act in conjunction with delegates from Ward Five.

Fitzgerald, Thomas J. Flynn, B. F. Murray, Col. J. H. Carmichael, D. A. Sullivan, J. W. Paradis.

Ward Six

The caucus in this ward was very largely attended. Joseph H. Dallagher presided and Thomas O'Day acted as secretary. A. A. Conway presented the name of Philip J. Farley for renomination. He referred to the good service done by Mr. Farley and was pleased to note that it had not passed unnoticed by the voters of Ward Six. Mr. Farley was then unanimously nominated.

GREAT SOLDIER

Sketch of Marshal McMahon's Career.

ACCOUNT OF HIS BRILLIANT MILITARY RECORD.

He Was an Honored Head of the French Republic.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—Field Marshal MacMahon, Duke of Magenta, died yesterday. The end was not unexpected.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—The Berlin newspapers announce Marshal MacMahon's death, but pass few comments. The Post remarks on his "well known integrity and oft-proved valor."

An ex-president of the French republic, a distinguished general and marshal of France, passed away when Marie Edme Patrice Maurice de MacMahon, Duc de Magenta, died. Of late but little has been heard of this distinguished man, but some years back his name was a leading one in the contemporaneous history of the world. Born in Sully, June 12, 1808, the son of the Marquis MacMahon, peer of France and personal friend of Charles X, and the descendant of an Irish family who went into exile with James II, young Maurice was educated at St. Cyr and obtained his first laurels in Algiers.

At the age of 25 he was a captain, and at 40 became a general of brigade. In the Crimea his dashing assault on Malakoff, contrary to the advice and despite the remonstrances of General Niel, resulted in victory and the reception of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, his personal bravery on that occasion calling forth enthusiastic praise from General Pelissier. In the Italian campaign of 1859 he again distinguished himself, and on the battlefield of Magenta was created Duke of Magenta and Marshal of France. It was in that battle that the gallant soldiers saved Napoleon III from capture by the Austrians.

With the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war Marshal MacMahon was placed at the head of the First Corps d'Armee, and he was regarded with general confidence; but a series of reverses met him until in September he was penned up in Sedan, was wounded and taken prisoner. Freed by the subsequent peace he returned to France, and there redeemed his name by reducing the communists in Paris. His policy was to abide by existing institutions, and therefore he accepted the existence of the republic, and though disapproving of it yet took the presidential chair.

He was an aristocrat by birth, an Imperialist by long association and he abhorred democratic free thinking. Furthermore, he himself said he never was a statesman, but a soldier, and that alone. It was understood that an offer had come to him from the Empress Eugenie and M. Rouher, acting for the Prince Imperial, laying down the bribe of the hand of the young Napoleon IV, to be bestowed upon Mlle. MacMahon if her father would aid in overthrowing the Republic and in bringing back the Empire. But the old soldier was honest and could not be bought.

Yet his actions as president were so arbitrary and so oppressive that the state of public affairs was for a time very menacing, and the cry of "Down with MacMahon!" was often heard in the streets. He was compelled to resign in 1879, and the third president, M. Grevy, was elected. The retiring ruler accepted the position manfully, and was the first to call upon his successor after the installation. Since that time he has lived in strict retirement.

His wife was always to him a guide and adviser, and her ambition had much to do in bringing him to the front politically. In his later days, still possessing many of his faculties undimmed, the ex-president of France passed the hours in his large library of military and scientific books, in the study of meteorology, in which he was deeply interested, and in walking and riding.

"Operation successful. No danger apprehended."

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—An operation was performed on Captain Adams at 12:30 o'clock yesterday by Dr. W. L. Tallman and Dr. C. Ferger, which the physicians pronounced most successful. No attempt was made to extract the bullet, but several fragments of bone were removed.

Captain Adams and his wife arrived in the city last Saturday, and went immediately to the suite of rooms they had engaged in the hotel adjoining that of G. S. Merrill, a friend of the family.

Captain Adams came here to see the World's fair, but for many years he has been suffering from two bullet wounds which he received during the war. Dr. Tallman took him in charge to relieve the captain of the pain.

The patient stood the anæsthetic and operation exceedingly well. The time was one hour and 30 minutes, and when he returned to consciousness he was quite hilarious at the removal of the cause of his trouble. He will not have sufficiently recovered to leave his room earlier than three weeks hence.

Fall River Envies Us.

The Fall River Herald speaking of our new city hall and its elegance says:

"We wish that it could be said of our building as can be remarked honestly of the Lowell structure—the people are satisfied with everything pertaining to it. Although there is a difference in favor of our city hall of $60,000, the opinion is general that we have not received our money's worth as they feel that they have in Lowell. Mayor Coughlin voiced the popular feeling when he said in his address in 1891: 'The same amount of money ($300,631.42) would have been sufficient to erect an entirely new building of superior architectural design and much more suitable to the wants and accommodations of the various departments of our municipal government.

MURDERED

Mrs. Carey Probably Killed by Her Husband.

THE EVIDENCE, HOWEVER, IS NOT POSITIVE

But Deemed Sufficient to Warrant His Arrest.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Mary Carey, aged 70 years, was murdered in her own house at Southbridge last Thursday, but the fact did not become known until yesterday—and even now this announcement will be news to many people in that town. She had been separated from her husband for some time, and lived in a little 1 1-2 story house on Morris street, where she kept house for her three sons. Her husband, a dissolute laborer, about 65 years of age, lived in another part of the town.

Last Thursday morning Mrs. Carey's married daughter called to see her mother, and found her lying on the floor in the pantry unconscious. Supposing the old lady was in a faint she lifted her from the floor, placed her in bed and sent for Dr. Edwards. When he arrived he found his patient in a very critical condition.

She had a bruise upon her forehead, where she struck the floor in falling, and another over the left ear. She was also bleeding from the ear. This is not an uncommon symptom accompanying cerebral hemorrhage caused by apoplexy, and the physician so diagnosed the case.

Everything was done for the suffering woman that could be done, but she remained unconscious, and died at 9 o'clock Saturday evening, not having spoken from the time she was found on the pantry floor.

Deputy Sheriff Acts.

Deputy Sheriff Franklin Jacobs, whose attention was drawn to the case, suspected foul play, and, the local medical examiner being away from home, sent for Medical Examiner Keefe. Dr. Keefe received the telephone summons Monday afternoon and went to Southbridge yesterday.

He found the body in the coffin ready for burial and ordered it removed to an undertaker's rooms, where, assisted by Drs. Edwards and Creedon, he performed an autopsy. Its results verified the diagnosis of the attending physician that death was caused by cerebral hemorrhage, but it also developed the fact that this hemorrhage was caused not by apoplexy but by a bullet which entered the woman's left ear and lodged in her brain.

Husband a Drunkard.

The bullet was found and is now in possession of Dr. Keefe, as is the pistol from which it was evidently fired, a little six-chamber 22 caliber revolver of the Defense pattern. This pistol, with one chamber unloaded, was taken from Michael Carey, husband of the murdered woman, by Deputy Sheriff Jacobs last Friday, when the former was arrested on a charge of being a common drunkard. Carey was found guilty Saturday and sentenced to the state farm at Bridgewater.

The only evidence against the old man, so far as now appears, is the possession of the revolver, into whose empty chamber the bullet found in the woman's brain fits perfectly; the fact that he was seen drunk about his wife's house on the morning the murder was committed, and the further fact that he was on bad terms with his wife and had frequently threatened her life.

The woman was alone in the house with her murderer when the desperate deed was committed, and no one has yet been found who heard the fatal shot. The evidence against the husband is thus purely circumstantial, but it justifies his arrest, and that has doubtless already been accomplished. Deputy Sheriff Jacobs came to this city yesterday, and, after a conference with District Attorney Gaskill, procured a warrant and started for Bridgewater.

Getting Rid of Highbinders.

LIVELY MEETING

OF THE LANDS AND BUILDINGS COMMITTEE.

The American Mechanics Are Refused Permission to Hoist the High School Flag on Saturday—The Building Must be Turned Over to the School Board.

The lands and buildings committee held a very important meeting last evening. The principal question considered was that of granting the American Mechanics permission to raise a flag over the new High School building.

Councilman Stafford stoutly opposed such a move claiming that no society should be allowed to take part in such exercises further than sending a delegation. The The flag raising should be by the High School authorities and the battalion.

The motion to grant the required permission then passed, Councilman Stafford alone voting in the negative.

The councilman then gave notice that at the next meeting he would move a reconsideration.

It was then decided to hold another meeting after the meeting of the city council. The second meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock.

Alderman McDonald said that since the first meeting he had been informed that when the American Mechanics had been given permission nothing was said about a procession. A simple flag raising was all that was asked for. Nothing tending to create sectarian feeling in school matters should be sanctioned.

Councilman Brunnette had also received information such as Alderman McDonald had spoke of. He thought the matter had better be left alone.

Councilman Scott and Alderman Westall spoke in favor of the motion allowing the Mechanics to parade.

Councilman Stafford again spoke in favor of the motion to reconsider. He had always been opposed to societies taking part in flag raisings on school houses.

The vote was then reconsidered and Councilman Stafford moved that the O. U. A. M. be given leave to withdraw on their petition to parade on the occasion of the occasion of the flag raising at the High school next Saturday. Alderman McDonald, Councilmen Stafford and Brunette voted in favor of the motion and Alderman Westall and Councilman Scott against. The motion was declared carried.

The Hotel Barroom Dilemma.

Landlords Shaw and Partridge who have the most respectable hotels in the city are badly handicapped by the conflict between the license law which requires the back doors of barrooms to be closed and the laws providing for the safety of hotel guests which require the back doors to be kept open. One of these laws imposes a fine for keeping the doors in question open another fixes a penalty for keeping them closed. Which law is to be obeyed? Either or neither?

OUR THEATRES.

OPERA HOUSE.—The "Land of the Midnight Sun" will be the bill presented this evening. The play has been successfully presented in large cities, and it has just closed a successful engagement in Boston. The advance sale has been good.

A delight to the ladies in the presentation of Lester Wallack's military drama, "Rosedale," by the Grand Opera House Company at the Opera house on Oct. 19, 20 and 21, will be the very fetching gowns worn by Miss Sadie Martinot in the role of Rose Leigh. Miss Martinot has always borne the reputation of being a most lavish and artistic dresser upon the American stage. On this occasion she has had prepared some really lovely toilettes. In the third act, in the scene where she teaches Eliot Grey that delightful old English song, "Lord Bateman was a noble lord," she will wear a gown which sets off her girlish figure and displays the art of the dressmaker perhaps better than any costume seen upon the stage of this town.

The five act sensational comedy drama, "The Hand of Fate," drew a large and well pleased audience last evening. The plot is a romantic one. Percy Melden and Miss Ethel Tucker sustained the leading parts.

Grand Democratic Rally To-night.

HYMENEAL.

Mr. John Corbett, employed by Michael Corbett on Gorham street, was married last Tuesday, in St. Cecilia's church, Back Bay, Boston, to Miss Katharine Crangle of that city, and formerly employed at the rectory of St. Patrick's church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard Barry. They have taken up their residence on Hosford square.

PERSONAL.

John F. McGovern, the well known and popular hackman, started yesterday for the World's Fair, and will be gone for three weeks. He has agreed to bring home many souvenirs of the fair to his friends. George Dunn will conduct his business in his absence.

Mr. John Fitzgerald of Mill Village, Nova Scotia is spending his vacation with his daughter, Mrs. Jeremiah Harrington of Stackpole street. This is the first time Mr. Fitzgerald has ever been on Uncle Sam's territory and what he has seen of it pleases him very much; he has been overseer of the fisheries of Port Medway river and harbor for 22 years and is a justice of the peace. He is remarkably hale and spry for a gentleman of his age. He was delighted to see THE SUN press as he was a subscriber of the paper for five years.

Dennis F. Murphy has been elected for the second time president of the class of '97, Holy Cross college.

Mr. Edward Fowler, the well known restaurant keeper of Centralville, M. J. Boulger and several other gentlemen went hunting yesterday afternoon, and the size of the bag of game which they carried home shows the remarkable markmanship of Mr. Fowler.

The engagement is announced of Edward Kittredge and Miss Marcia S. Nichols.

John W. Oates, a former Lowell resident, has been transferred as an officer from the house of correction to the state prison.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Moore of San Jose, Cal., arrived in town yesterday, and will spend a few days here with relatives. Mr. Moore was formerly a resident of Lowell, but has been absent 20 years.

Quincy and Williams at Huntington Hall, To-night.

AN ADDITION

TO BE MADE TO ST. JOHN'S HOSPITAL.

Arrangements for a More Expensive Surgical Department to Cost $9,000.

Owing to the great increase in the amount of surgical work at Lowell's greatest charity, St. John's hospital, it has been decided to build an addition, to be devoted entirely to that particular line of work. For more than twenty-five years this institution has been a blessing to the sick and unfortunate of Lowell, and while in its day the building has been amply large to accommodate all its patients, but with the growth of the city, the number of cases of sickness and accidents has grown in proportion, and under present circumstances the building has been found too small for its purpose, namely, to give each patient all the advantages of a modern hospital.

Thus the annex will be constructed to meet all modern requirements, and yesterday the work of excavating preparatory to laying the foundation was begun. The dimensions are 40 by 26 feet, three stories and a basement. The latter will have a dining room for nurses, a laboratory for the house officer, and an extra store room which is much needed. On the first floor will be the apartments in which analyses will be made and bacteriological work done. It will contain the emergency department for the treating of accidents, and every facility will be provided for the comfort of patients and convenience of surgeons. There will also be a lavatory for doctors, etherizing and sterilizing rooms and a private room with two beds for patients whose condition after an operation is such as to make isolation necessary.

The second floor will contain a well appointed pharmacy. There is a great demand for medicine at the hospital and in this any prescription may be filled There will be three rooms for patients on this floor.

On the third floor will be the operating room for women, a branch of surgery which has grown rapidly of late at the hospital. There are but few institutions of the kind which have had so many cases of ovariotomy and similar operations as St. John's, for Lowell doctors have a reputation for abdominal surgery that is widely extended. This floor will also have two rooms for patients and etherizing and sterilizing rooms. In the surgical departments the floors will be of a strong substance, and the walls of soapstone finish, so that they can be thoroughly washed at any time. They have all the tables, etc., needed and nothing essential will be lacking. It is intended to have the annex entirely modern and capable of attending all kinds of cases.

The architect is Mr. F. W. Stickney, and the estimated cost is $9000 and that expenditure will bring St. John's hospital in line with the best institutions of the country. Only the foundation work has been given out and Mr. P. O'Hearn is doing that. Other contracts are being figured and the work will be rushed as fast as possible.

Notes.

Thomas Dolan, the victim of Saturday night's stabbing affray, is slowly recovering.

James Sheridan, who some time ago received severe injuries to his head, the result it is alleged of being pushed out of a barroom, is about all right physically, though his mind is somewhat confused. He is still at the institution and the physicians have hopes of his recovery.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES.

Mr. Donohoe Wins in the Ward Three Contest—Other Wards.

The democrats of the city assembled in their respective ward rooms last evening to nominate candidates for representative honors. Ward Three was the scene of battle. In the other wards there was no opposition to the candidate in each; and, therefore, all interest centred in the banner ward. Over 1400 ballots were cast in that ward, and when the ballots were counted it was found that Owen M. Donohoe was the successful candidate.

Ward One.

The caucus in this ward was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock. Ex-representative M. J. Garvey was chosen chairman and James H. Smith secretary. Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., in a well worded address eulogistic of the excellent services rendered by Mr. Murphy, moved that he be nominated for representative by acclamation. Councilman O'Brien and James H. Smith seconded the nomination, and the motion was unanimously carried.

Ward Two.

Fisher H. Pearson presided over the caucus here and Thomas J. McLaughlin was secretary. John H. Harrington placed in nomination Mr. John G. Gordon and Peter A. Fay, Esq., seconded the nomination. Mr. Gordon was then unanimously chosen as the democratic nominee for representative.

Ward Three.

There was a grand contest up in this ward. From the time the polls opened at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon till they closed at 10 o'clock in the evening, there was a continual stream of voters pouring up to the ballot box, James Owens, Esq, was chairman; Councilman O'Connor secretary and Peter J. Brady, ballot distributer. The voters came in droves; and clubs marched to the polls to cast their ballots for Owen M, Donohoe. This continued till a Donohoe delegation made their appearance carrying with them a large banner. They created a great furore and marched up to the polls to cast their ballots for their favorite candidate. It was after 1 o'clock before the ballots were counted, and when the result was announced, there was a great uproar. Donahoe's friends congratulated each other, and expressed the greatest satisfaction at the vote received for their favorite.

Here is the vote cast for each candidate:

Owen M. Donohoe	669
Charles L. Marren	242
James Howard	226
Patrick J. Baxter	191
John J. Gilbride	169
Total number of votes	1387
Blanks	15

The nomination of Mr. Donohoe was made unanimous and C. L. Marren made a brief address counselling loyalty to all democratic nominees and exhorting the voters to work hard for the election of Peter J. Brady.

GREAT SOLDIER

Sketch of Marshal McMahon's Career.

ACCOUNT OF HIS BRILLIANT MILITARY RECORD.

He Was an Honored Head of the French Republic.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—Field Marshal MacMahon, Duke of Magenta, died yesterday. The end was not unexpected.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—The Berlin newspapers announce Marshal MacMahon's death, but pass few comments. The Post remarks on his "well known integrity and oft-proved valor."

An ex-president of the French republic, a distinguished general and marshal of France, passed away when Marie Edme Patrice Maurice de MacMahon, Duc de Magenta, died. Of late but little has been heard of this distinguished man, but some years back his name was a leading one in the contemporaneous history of the world. Born in Sully, June 12, 1808, the son of the Marquis MacMahon, peer of France and personal friend of Charles X, and the descendant of an Irish family who went into exile with James II, young Maurice was educated at St. Cyr and obtained his first laurels in Algiers.

At the age of 25 he was a captain, and at 40 became a general of brigade. In the Crimea his dashing assault on Malakoff, contrary to the advice and despite the remonstrances of General Niel, resulted in victory and the reception of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, his personal bravery on that occasion calling forth enthusiastic praise from General Pelissier. In the Italian campaign of 1859 he again distinguished himself, and on the battlefield of Magenta was created Duke of Magenta and Marshal of France. It was in that battle that the gallant soldiers saved Napoleon III from capture by the Austrians.

With the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war Marshal MacMahon was placed at the head of the First Corps d'Armee, and he was regarded with general confidence; but a series of reverses met him until in September he was penned up in Sedan, was wounded and taken prisoner. Freed by the subsequent peace he returned to France, and there redeemed his name by reducing the communists in Paris. His policy was to abide by existing institutions, and therefore he accepted the existence of the republic, and though disapproving of it yet took the presidential chair.

He was an aristocrat by birth, an Imperialist by long association and he abhorred democratic free thinking. Furthermore, he himself said he never was a statesman, but a soldier, and that alone. It was understood that an offer had come to him from the Empress Eugenia and M. Rouher, acting for the Prince Imperial, laying down the bribe of the hand of the young Napoleon IV, to be bestowed upon Mlle. MacMahon if her father would aid in overthrowing the Republic and in bringing back the Empire. But the old soldier was honest and could not be bought.

Yet his actions as president were so arbitrary and so oppressive that the state of public affairs was for a time very menacing, and the cry of "Down with MacMahon!" was often heard in the streets. He was compelled to resign in 1879, and the third president, M. Grevy, was elected. The retiring ruler accepted the position manfully, and was the first to call upon his successor after the installation. Since that time he has lived in strict retirement.

His wife was always to him a guide and adviser, and her ambition had much to do in bringing him to the front politically. In his later days, still possessing many of his faculties undimmed, the ex-president of France passed the hours in his large library of military and scientific books, in the study of meteorology, in which he was deeply interested, and in walking and riding.

OUT OF DANGER.

Captain Jack Adams Undergoes a Surgical Operation.

WEYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 18.—The following telegram, dated Chicago, Oct. 17, 5:25 p. m., was received by Colonel Benjamin F. Lovell, in reply to a telegram sent by him inquiring as to the condition of Commander-in-Chief Adams of the Grand Army.

"Operation successful. No danger apprehended."

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—An operation was performed on Captain Adams at 12:30 o'clock yesterday by Dr. W. L. Tallman and Dr. C. Ferger, which the physicians pronounced most successful. No attempt was made to extract the bullet, but several fragments of bone were removed.

Captain Adams and his wife arrived in the city last Saturday, and went immediately to the suite of rooms they had engaged in the hotel adjoining that of G. S. Merrill, a friend of the family.

Captain Adams came here to see the World's fair, but for many years he has been suffering from two bullet wounds which he received during the war. Dr. Tallman took him in charge to relieve the captain of the pain.

The patient stood the anaesthetic and operation exceedingly well. The time was one hour and 30 minutes, and when he returned to consciousness he was quite hilarious at the removal of the cause of his trouble. He will not have sufficiently recovered to leave his room earlier than three weeks hence.

Fall River Envies Us.

The Fall River Herald speaking of our new city hall and its elegance says:

"We wish that it could be said of our building as can be remarked honestly of the Lowell structure—the people are satisfied with everything pertaining to it. Although there is a difference in favor of our city hall of $60,000, the opinion is general that we have not received our money's worth as they feel that they have in Lowell. Mayor Coughlin voiced the popular feeling when he said in his address in 1891: 'The same amount of money ($300,061.42) would have been sufficient to erect an entirely new building of superior architectural design and much more suitable to the wants and accommodations of the various departments of our municipal government.

MURDERED

Mrs. Carey Probably Killed by Her Husband.

THE EVIDENCE, HOWEVER, IS NOT POSITIVE

But Deemed Sufficient to Warrant His Arrest.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Mary Carey, aged 70 years, was murdered in her own house at Southbridge last Thursday, but the fact did not become known until yesterday—and even now this announcement will be news to many people in that town. She had been separated from her husband for some time, and lived in a little 1 1-2 story house on Morris street, where she kept house for her three sons. Her husband, a dissolute laborer, about 65 years of age, lived in another part of the town.

Last Thursday morning Mrs. Carey's married daughter called to see her mother, and found her lying on the floor in the pantry unconscious. Supposing the old lady was in a faint she lifted her from the floor, placed her in bed and sent for Dr. Edwards. When he arrived he found his patient in a very critical condition.

She had a bruise upon her forehead, where she struck the floor in falling, and another over the left ear. She was also bleeding from the ear. This is not an uncommon symptom accompanying cerebral hemorrhage caused by apoplexy, and the physician so diagnosed the case.

Everything was done for the suffering woman that could be done, but she remained unconscious, and died at 9 o'clock Saturday evening, not having spoken from the time she was found on the pantry floor.

Deputy Sheriff Acts.

Deputy Sheriff Franklin Jacobs, whose attention was drawn to the case, suspected foul play, and, the local medical examiner being away from home, sent for Medical Examiner Keefe. Dr. Keefe received the telephone summons Monday afternoon and went to Southbridge yesterday.

He found the body in the coffin ready for burial and ordered it removed to an undertaker's rooms, where, assisted by Drs. Edwards and Creedon, he performed an autopsy. Its results verified the diagnosis of the attending physician that death was caused by cerebral hemorrhage, but it also developed the fact that this hemorrhage was caused not by apoplexy but by a bullet which entered the woman's left ear and lodged in her brain.

Husband a Drunkard.

The bullet was found and is now in possession of Dr. Keefe, as is the pistol from which it was evidently fired, a little six-chamber 22-caliber revolver of the Defense pattern. This pistol, with one chamber unloaded, was taken from Michael Carey, husband of the murdered woman, by Deputy Sheriff Jacobs last Friday, when the former was arrested on a charge of being a common drunkard. Carey was found guilty Saturday and sentenced to the state farm at Bridgewater.

The only evidence against the old man, so far as now appears, is the possession of the revolver, into whose empty chamber the bullet found in the woman's brain fits perfectly; the fact that he was seen drunk about his wife's house on the morning the murder was committed, and the further fact that he was on bad terms with his wife and had frequently threatened her life.

The woman was alone in the house with her murderer when the desperate deed was committed, and no one has yet been found who heard the fatal shot. The evidence against the husband is thus purely circumstantial, but it justifies his arrest, and that has doubtless already been accomplished. Deputy Sheriff Jacobs came to this city yesterday, and, after a conference with District Attorney Gaskill, procured a warrant and started for Bridgewater.

LIVELY MEETING

OF THE LANDS AND BUILDINGS COMMITTEE.

The American Mechanics Are Refused Permission to Hoist the High School Flag on Saturday—The Building Must be Turned Over to the School Board.

The lands and buildings committee held a very important meeting last evening. The principal question considered was that of granting the American Mechanics permission to raise a flag over the new High School building.

Councilman Stafford stoutly opposed such a move claiming that no society should be allowed to take part in such exercises further than sending a delegation. The flag raising should be by the High School authorities and the battalion.

The motion to grant the required permission then passed, Councilman Stafford alone voting in the negative.

The councilman then gave notice that at the next meeting he would move a reconsideration.

It was then decided to hold another meeting after the meeting of the city council. The second meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock.

Alderman McDonald said that since the first meeting he had been informed that when the American Mechanics had been given permission nothing was said about a procession. A simple flag raising was all that was asked for. Nothing tending to create sectarian feeling in school matters should be sanctioned.

Councilman Brunnette had also received information such as Alderman McDonald had spoke of. He thought the matter had better be left alone.

Councilman Scott and Alderman Westall spoke in favor of the motion allowing the Mechanics to parade.

Councilman Stafford again spoke in favor of the motion to reconsider. He had always been opposed to societies taking part in flag raisings on school houses.

The vote was then reconsidered and Councilman Stafford moved that the O. U. A. M. be given leave to withdraw on their petition to parade on the occasion of the occasion of the flag raising at the High school next Saturday. Alderman McDonald, Councilmen Stafford and Brunette voted in favor of the motion and Alderman Westall and Councilman Scott against. The motion was declared carried.

The Hotel Barroom Dilemma.

Landlords Shaw and Partridge who have the most respectable hotels in the city are badly handicapped by the conflict between the license law which requires the back doors of barrooms to be closed and the laws providing for the safety of hotel guests which require the back doors to be kept open. One of these laws imposes a fine for keeping the doors in question open another fixes a penalty for keeping them closed. Which law is to be obeyed? Either or neither?

For Governor:

JOHN E. RUSSELL.

For Lieut. Governor:

JAMES B. CARROLL.

For Senator:

PETER J. BRADY.

If Greenhalge had only burned that letter.

Everyone knows now what senatorial dignity and courtesy means.

The proposition to elect United States senators by popular vote ought to receive a hearty endorsement about this time. One of the planks in the Massachusetts democratic platform favors such a change.

It is pretty small politics to be forever harping on Candidate Russell's declaration that he would never come to speak again in Lowell. Everyone knows that the utterance came under most irritating circumstances. To carry out the determination would be so very silly that the republican papers might well poke fun at the candidate. To do the sensible thing is always praiseworthy. Give us arguments if you have them and not chaff, brethren of the republican press.

A man may be a free trader but he cannot give the people free trade unless they want it. He may be a prohibitionist, yet he cannot prevent the people from making, selling and drinking rum until they get ready to stop. Candidates are men who announce their willingness to serve the people in a particular capacity. They are never elected to do as they please but as the people direct. Officials cannot always follow their own inclinations or convictions. They must do the bidding of the people or get out of office. Garfield was said to be a free trader but he never had an opportunity to sign a free trade bill. John Sherman is anxious to kill the silver bill of which he is the father, but his silver monstrosity still lives. He thought he knew what the people wanted but he didn't. He knows now and is likely to vote as they direct or take the consequences.

A WORD WITH YOU YOUNG MAN.

Young man don't be in too much of a hurry to get riches or honors. You may set it down as a fact supported by the experience of ages, that riches and honors seldom come to men without hard work and personal merit. If you see a chance to get rich without labor or risk, look it over again and see if it is not a trap to rob you of the little you have, or a villainous scheme to rob some one else for your benefit. It is next to impossible in ordinary business or professional channels to get wealthy in a short time and do it honestly. To acquire honor and fame is a most laudable ambition. Before you start out make up your mind that no man ever got either who did not deserve them. Office is no honor in itself. It is often the means of making a man more ridiculous or notorious as it affords him an excellent opportunity of showing the public how little he knows or how contemptible he is. Don't fish for a title unless you are man enough to wear it. Think of all the "Honorables" and "Colonels" that go to make up the great laughing stock of intelligent people. It were better for them that they had remained in obscurity. No office can put brains into a blockhead or give dignity to a cheap brawler. No title can make a gentleman out of a blackguard or bring honor to him who is not already honorable. To fill an office faithfully and efficiently, to wear a title with proper dignity, ability and integrity, requires a first-class man of brains, character, energy and talent. Such men are very scarce. They honor the offices they fill and the titles they wear. These are the men the people like and admire. If you aim high young man, be sure that you aim straight. The highest standard of excellence is moral excellence. A good honest reputation is the best capital you can have to start on. Honesty is the first and most important consideration. If you are industrious that is the next requisite, for you must study hard and work incessantly. Talent comes next in the order of importance and it is a good thing to cultivate. If you have all these you will get there without fail, if you are not in a hurry. Good luck may count for something, but not much. Never depend on it.

And by the way, don't get the idea into your head that all the glory and happiness of this earth comes from public office. Far from it. Don't imagine that all the brainy men are politicians or public speakers. The power of speech is not the greatest of accomplishments. It usually keeps a man in trouble. The "spouter" who talks and says nothing is a public bore. The "parrot" orator who tries to repeat what abler men have said, is getting to be an intolerable nuisance. The ablest living men are not talkers. They are workers. As the great Dougherty said, the days of oratory are over. It is a most a lost art. Nothing short of a genius can pass as an orator these days. If your ambition lead you in any other direction let public office alone. It has destroyed more men than it ever made. You can win greater honor and wealth without it. Mayors, governors, congressmen and presidents are very insignificant men when compared with the scientists, philosophers, inventors, the great generals of business and industrial enterprises, the wizards of finance, the giants of the learned professions, the masters of the arts, the authors, poets and mighty thinkers of the world. Read, young man; read until you find out how little you know. Then start right and keep at it.

SUNBEAMS.

"I thank you, sir, for your kind permission to call on your daughter."

"Remember that I turn out the gas at 10 o'clock."

"All right, sir. I'll not come befo that time."—Life.

Evidence of It.

There is a certain member of the Chicago bar who is noted for his low, weak voice and unobtrusive way. On one occasion the gifted Emery A. Storrs came into the office and inquired for this man. A clerk said he was out.

"Oh, no," said Mr. Storrs; "he is in the inner room."

"How do you know that?" asked the clerk, alarmed by the guess.

"How do I know it?" answered Storrs. "Why, it is so darned still!"—Argonaut.

Total Depravity.

"Just think of it!" exclaimed Mr. Lushly's wife. "Just think of it!"

"Just think of what?" asked Lushly.

"This newspaper states that in Belgium there are 150,000 saloons and 5,000 schools."

Lushly was silent in thought.

"What do you think of that?" asked his wife.

"Why—er—ain't that a good many schools for such a small country?"—Washington Star.

Assured of the Future.

"But, Herbert," she said, "think of the future. You are poor, and you cannot surround me with the luxuries to which I have been accustomed."

"But your father"——

"He would do nothing for us."

"Does he play poker?"

"No."

"Then I'll teach him. Trust in me, darling, and have no fear of the future."—Texas Siftings.

All the Same.

Thought It Was Strange.

Upon one occasion an actor who rarely knew his part deliberately posed through an entire act of "Julius Cæsar" and left the reponsibility of the scene upon the shoulders of his colleagues. They managed to pull through without him by incorporating his lines into their own parts, and when the curtain dropped they went in a body to the culprit's dressing room. He was calmly reading a newspaper when the door was burst open.

"Well, sir," said the irate star, "what do you mean by placing us in such a predicament?"

"What are you talking about?" said the actor.

"What am I talking about? That scene, sir."

"What was the matter with it?"

"Why, you never once opened your mouth; didn't speak a single line, sir."

"Didn't, eh? Well, by Jove, do you know, it struck me the scene hung fire."—Amusement Globe.

"BREAKING IN."

Many a man has "broken out" in a passion, and felt all "broken up," trying to get a new pair of shoes "broken in." He has had to "break off" many an engagement on account of crippled feet, and has gone "broke" many a time trying to get relief for his corns—the direct cause of ill-fitting shoes. But nowadays things are different. With the advent of came absolute foot-comfort from the first wearing and no "breaking in" is required. A good-looking, good-wearing shoe, costing but $5 and worth twice the money.

The "Phit Eesi" Shoes

For Governor:

For Senator:

PETER J. BRADY.

IF GREENHALGE had only burned that letter.

EVERYONE KNOWS NOW what senatorial dignity and courtesy means.

THE PROPOSITION to elect United States senators by popular vote ought to receive a hearty endorsement about this time. One of the planks in the Massachusetts democratic platform favors such a change.

IT IS pretty small politics to be forever harping on Candidate Russell's declaration that he would never come to speak again in Lowell. Everyone knows that the utterance came under most irritating circumstances. To carry out the determination would be so very silly that the republican papers might well poke fun at the candidate. To do the sensible thing is always praiseworthy. Give us arguments if you have them and not chaff, brethren of the republican press.

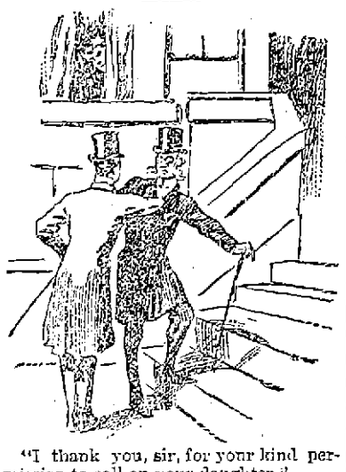

A MAN may be a free trader but he cannot give the people free trade unless they want it. He may be a prohibitionist, yet he cannot prevent the people from making, selling and drinking rum until they get ready to stop. Candidates are men who announce their willingness to serve the people in a particular capacity. They are never elected to do as they please but as the people direct. Officials cannot always follow their own inclinations or convictions. They must do the bidding of the people or get out of office. Garfield was said to be a free trader but he never had an opportunity to sign a free trade bill. John Sherman is anxious to kill the silver bill of which he is the father, but his silver monstrosity still lives. He thought he knew what the people wanted but he didn't. He knows now and is likely to vote as they direct or take the consequences.

A WORD WITH YOU YOUNG MAN.

Young man don't be in too much of a hurry to get riches or honors. You may set it down as a fact supported by the experience of ages, that riches and honors seldom come to men without hard work and personal merit. If you see a chance to get rich without labor or risk, look it over again and see if it is not a trap to rob you of the little you have, or a villainous scheme to rob some one else for your benefit. It is next to impossible in ordinary business or professional channels to get wealthy in a short time and do it honestly. To acquire honor and fame is a most laudable ambition. Before you start out make up your mind that no man ever got either who did not deserve them. Office is no honor in itself. It is often the means of making a man more ridiculous or notorious as it affords him an excellent opportunity of showing the public how little he knows or how contemptible he is. Don't fish for a title unless you are man enough to wear it. Think of all the "Honorables" and "Colonels" that go to make up the great laughing stock of intelligent people. It were better for them that they had remained in obscurity. No office can put brains into a blockhead or give dignity to a cheap brawler. No title can make a gentleman out of a blackguard or bring honor to him who is not already honorable. To fill an office faithfully and efficiently, to wear a title with proper dignity, ability and integrity, requires a first-class man of brains, character, energy and talent. Such men are very scarce. They honor the offices they fill and the titles they wear. These are the men the people like and admire. If you aim high young man, be sure that you aim straight. The highest standard of excellence is moral excellence. A good honest reputation is the best capital you can have to start on. Honesty is the first and most important consideration. If you are industrious that is the next requisite, for you must study hard and work incessantly. Talent comes next in the order of importance and it is a good thing to cultivate. If you have all these you will get there without fail, if you are not in a hurry. Good luck may count for something, but not much. Never depend on it.

And by the way, don't get the idea into your head that all the glory and happiness of this earth comes from public office. Far from it. Don't imagine that all the brainy men are politicians or public speakers. The power of speech is not the greatest of accomplishments. It usually keeps a man in trouble. The "spouter" who talks and says nothing is a public bore. The "parrot" orator who tries to repeat what abler men have said, is getting to be an intolerable nuisance. The ablest living men are not talkers. They are workers. As the great Dougherty said, the days of oratory are over. It is almost a lost art. Nothing short of a genius can pass as an orator these days. If your talents lead you in any other direction let public office alone. It has destroyed more men than it ever made. You can win greater honor and wealth without it. Mayors, governors, congressmen and presidents are very insignificant men when compared with the scientists, philosophers, inventors, the great generals of business and industrial enterprises, the wizards of finance, the giants of the learned professions, the masters of the arts, the authors, poets and mighty thinkers of the world. Read, young man; read until you find out how little you know. Then start right and keep at it.

SUNBEAMS.

"I thank you, sir, for your kind permission to call on your daughter."

"Remember that I turn out the gas at 10 o'clock."

"All right, sir. I'll not come befo that time."—Life.

Evidence of It.

There is a certain member of the Chicago bar who is noted for his low, weak voice and unobtrusive way. On one occasion the gifted Emery A. Storrs came into the office and inquired for this man. A clerk said he was out.

"Oh, no," said Mr. Storrs; "he is in the inner room."

"How do you know that?" asked the clerk, alarmed by the guess.

"How do I know it?" answered Storrs. "Why, it is so darned still!"—Argonaut.

Total Depravity.

"Just think of it!" exclaimed Mr. Lushly's wife. "Just think of it!"

"Just think of what?" asked Lushly.

"This newspaper states that in Belgium there are 150,000 saloons and 5,000 schools."

Lushly was silent in thought.

"What do you think of that?" asked his wife.

"Why—er—ain't that a good many schools for such a small country?"—Washington Star.

Assured of the Future.

"But, Herbert," she said, "think of the future. You are poor, and you cannot surround me with the luxuries to which I have been accustomed."

"But your father"——

"He would do nothing for us."

"Does he play poker?"

"No."

"Then I'll teach him. Trust in me, darling, and have no fear of the future."—Texas Siftings.

All the Same.

"BREAKING IN."

Many a man has "broken out" in a passion, and felt all "broken up" trying to get a new pair of shoes "broken in." He has had to "break off" many an engagement on account of crippled feet, and has gone "broke" many a time trying to get relief for his corns—the direct cause of ill-fitting shoes. But nowadays things are different. With the advent of

CONGRESS

Senators Indulge in Unbecoming Personalities.

THE DIGNITY OF THE SENATE FAST DECLINING.

Sherman Appeals to Democrats to Come to an Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The most interesting and important debate that has been heard in the senate chamber during the present session was the one that took place yesterday, Mr Dolph (Rep., Or.) made a point on Monday evening that the two Populist senators—Allen of Nebraska and Kyle of South Dakota—had not answered to their names, although they were present, and he contended that their presence should be entered in the journal.

Around that question the parliamentary struggle waged all day, and bristled with bitter sarcasm, jibes and personalities. Mr. Dolph having expressed himself as "tired" of all the obstruction, was told by Mr. Harris (Dem., Tenn.) that if he was tired he had better sit down and rest, and that would be a relief to the senator himself and to the senate.

Mr. Hoar made a statement that "On all questions which affect the welfare of the American people by rules, through rules or over rules, by the senate, through the senate or over the senate, the irresistible will of the American people will have its way."

Mr. Hill (Dem., N. Y.) argued in favor of Mr. Dolph's contention. He said that the art of "how to do it" seemed to be the effort of the senate.

Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) spoke of Mr. Hill as a New York politician who had introduced the heresy of counting a quorum when he was president of the New York senate.

Mr. Hill retorted ironically that there were no politicians in Alabama. There they were all statesmen, and he twitted Mr. Morgan's expressed reverence for the constitution of the United States by suggesting that for a certain portion of that senator's career he had been supporting another constitution.

Mr. Morgan spent a good deal of time over what he called a coalition between Democratic and Republican senators, and when Mr. Washburn (Rep., Minn.) denied that there was any such coalition he was tartly stopped by Mr. Morgan, who said that he had not a thought in his mind of the Minnesota senator as one of the Republican leaders.

Then an allusion to the conference of national banks in getting up the coalition was resented by Mr Gray, who said that it was not true; and when Mr. Morgan asked him whether he wanted to make a personal matter of it, Mr. Gray modified the remark by saying that, so far as he was concerned, it was not true.

Mr. Washburn, having declared his resolve not to be stamped upon or insulted, he was told by Mr. Morgan that he was responsible for what he said, whether in the senate or outside, and added: "You understand that—perfectly responsible."

The great speech of the day was made by Mr. Sherman. He criticised the Democratic senators very severely for their failure to come to some agreement among themselves, and counselled them to do so.

Without arriving at any decision on the question the senate at 5:30 p. m. took a recess until 10 a. m. today.

Caucus Talk.

Senator Sherman's speech caused some of the Democrats to ask whether it was not time for them to agree upon united action. Before the decision had been reached to take a recess until today Mr. Vest began circulating among his colleagues a petition addressed to the chairman of the caucus asking him to issue a call for the caucus. The call, which Mr. Vest had drawn up, was carefully worded, and every man who signed it thereby pledged himself to abide by the decision of that caucus. It was noticeable that when this paper was presented to Democratic repealers they declined, after reading the caption, to sign the request.

It requires 23 Democrats, a majority of the majority, to make this call effective, and, according to the count of the silver Democrats, they have just that number. This estimate includes Mr. Kyle and Mr. Martin, who are, the southern men claim, more Democrats than Populists. Mr. Vest hopes to get some of the repeal Democrats to sign his paper.

It is said that when Mr. Voorhees moved to take a recess, and, as he said, poured oil on the troubled waters, he knew of the contemplated caucus, and thought it best not to push matters pending the attempt of his colleagues to get together.

Democrats Not Pledged.

When asked the point blank question whether or not the administration Democrats would enter this caucus, one of Mr. Voorhees' warmest supporters said there could be no doubt that if the majority ordered the caucuses all Democrats would participate in its deliberations. Not having signed the caucus pledge, they would be free to act for themselves, and while some would not go to the extent of binding themselves beforehand, this senator said he expected much good to grow out of the conference. The mere fact that a caucus was held, if it debate held, was, he said, significant of itself. If the fight for unconditional repeal is to be continued on the lines now laid down, a caucus could mean but one thing, and that was compromise.

It is not probable that the caucus will be held earlier than tonight, and possibly not then. Repeal senators will not admit that the caucus will act contrary to the present attitude of the administration, for they deny that the silver men are in the majority.

In the House.

Mr Phillips (Rep., Pa.) introduced in the house a bill to provide for the coinage of silver dollars and to maintain them at par. The most striking feature of the bill is the provision:

That in case the silver dollar at any time declines below its face value, and ceases to circulate at par, the secretary of the treasury is then authorized to redeem or exchange for gold said silver dollars on presentation until they shall again be current at their face or par value; and to enable the secretary of the treasury to do this, and for this purpose alone, he is hereby authorized to issue and sell for gold United States 3 percentum bonds interest, payable semi-annually in gold and the principal payable in gold in 30 years, but such issues shall not exceed $10,000,000 in any one month nor be more than $100,000,000 in all.

The bill repeals the Sherman act. It provides for the coinage of seigniorage and the retirement of one and two dollar notes from circulation.

While the storm is raging in the senate, there is a great calm in the house. Monday the important bill extending for six months the time in which the Chinese might be permitted to register was passed without opposition. Yesterday a bill dispensing with proof of loyalty in the cases of persons, who, before the war, were entitled to pensions or to bounty lands, was objected to by Mr. Barrows (Rep., Mich.) as far as the pension clause was concerned.

Thereupon Mr. Oates, who had charge of the measure, courteously withdrew the pension clause and the bill was passed. Then came up the proposition for the better control of national banks, and after a cordial exchange of views between its supporters and opponents it was agreed to without even a division. The remainder of the day was consumed in the consideration of the public printing bill. Without disposing of it, the house at 5 o'clock adjourned.

WAS DEEPLY IN DEBT.

Charles Copeland Believed to Have Died by His Own Hand.

EAST BRIDGEWATER, Mass., Oct. 18.—Charles W. Copeland was found dead yesterday afternoon in a field near his house. He started from home in the morning with a double barreled shotgun for the stated purpose of getting some partridges. He appeared in excellent spirits, and had arranged with Mrs. Copeland to go to Boston when he came back. Not returning as soon as anticipated, search was made, and Mr. Copeland's dead body was found with a charge of buckshot through the heart. The gun, however, was lying with the muzzle pointing away from him and near a stone wall, over which Mr. Copeland may have fallen.

The medical examiner decided that death was due to accident, but there is a growing belief that it was suicide. Mr. Copeland was a member of C. W. Copeland & Co., boot and shoe manufacturers, who failed in 1883 for $750,000. The C. W. Copeland Manufacturing company was then organized and their building was burned in 1888. Mr. Copeland then withdrew from the business and has been in the stock and dairy farming business. His property has been heavily mortgaged and a foreclosure was to have been made on his household property yesterday, a keeper being in charge.

Friends Think He Is Demented.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Nathan Wolfe, one of the principal witnesses in the Schloss case, in which Drs. Whitten and Lee were acquitted, has mysteriously disappeared. His family fear that the strain he underwent has made him demented. Wolfe was first a witness for the state and afterward went on the stand for the defence, admitting that he had perjured himself by his first testimony in order to shield Cash, who was on trial as an accessory.

Nutmeg State Knights of Honor.

HARTFORD, Oct. 18.—The grand council of the Knights of Honor of Connecticut held its 16th annual session in Odd Fellows' hall here. The following officers were elected: Grand dictator, George W. Daines of East Litchfield; grand vice dictator, Phineas A. Spencer of Meriden; grand assistant dictator, J. L. Barrett of Ansonia; grand treasurer, James A. Kelsey of Middletown; grand reporter, C. W. Skiff of Danbury.

Asquith and the Peers.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Herbert Asquith, home secretary, speaking in Glasgow last evening, denied the right of the house of lords to force a dissolution of parliament. The electors themselves should be blamed, he said, for tolerating a system which placed the gigantic power in such irresponsible hands as those of the peers. He denied that the ministers intended to reintroduce the home rule bill in the next session.

Loose Finances Alleged.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Application was made in the superior court here asking for the removal of John B. Wallace as trustee of the insolvent Electrical Supply company of Ansonia on the grounds that Wallace owes the concern over $100,000. The court has been asked to order the books of the insolvent firm of Wallace & Sons of Ansonia inspected by an expert, as they were greatly muddled.

Seventeen Men Badly Injured.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 18.—A freight engine and train collided with a car containing 70 employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad company returning from their work in the lower yard to this city. The car was broken up and the hot stove overturned among the men, 17 of whom were very seriously injured.

Killed His Sister and Himself.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Jacob Winter, 28 years old, a truck driver, shot and killed his sister Louisa last night. Winter then shot himself in the head and died instantly. The cause of the shooting is said to be because the girl received the attentions of a barber against her brother's wishes.

Jewelers Out of Pocket.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 18.—The manufacturing jewelry trade was surprised by the news of the failure in Chicago of Adolph Shakeman, a wholesale jobber of that city. The losses to the manufacturers in Providence and Attleboro, Mass., are about $50,000, and the total, it is said, will reach $75,000.

Riotous Strikers.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A mob of striking coal miners at St. Helen's attacked a party of non-union miners. The nonunionists were beaten severely. The police charged the rioters, but the miners drove them into the colliery offices. Many policemen were injured.

Boat and Crew Lost.

BUFFALO, Oct. 18.—The schooner F. C. Leighton, with a crew of seven men, is reported to have gone down near Gravelly Bay with all on board some time during Saturday night's storm. The boat left Toledo for Buffalo last Wednesday.

Business Block Destroyed.

MANKATO, Kan., Oct. 18.—The principal business block in this town was destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $50,000.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA

Continue to Hobnob While Germany Looks on In Rage.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—At the president's dinner last night in honor of the visiting Russians, 104 covers were laid. After the dinner Mme. Carnot with Admiral Avelan opened the ball. The whole diplomatic corps had been invited. The Paris journalists entertained the visiting Russian correspondents at dinner.

When Admiral Avelan and his staff appeared on the balconies to answer the cheers of the crowd, the admiral, after bowing three times, put the French national standard to his lips and kissed it.

The crowd in the streets is beyond anything seen in recent years. The evening newspapers are very Chauvinistic. They comment upon the coming of the Russians as if the two nations were already together in the field and a war were half won. Several quote from foreign newspapers to show that the fetes are provoking the fury of German statesmen and editors.

BELCHERTOWN EXCITED

Over a Domestic Row Which Promises to Be Ventilated in Court.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. Oct. 18.—The town of Belchertown is agitated over a domestic trouble which will doubtless soon be tested in the courts. Clinton, son of Selectman Nelson Randall, accuses his wife of having deceived him by foisting a Brooklyn foundling upon him as his own child. Mrs. Randall denies the charge, and documentary evidence is held by each party.

Unfortunately, the birth of Mrs. Randall's child is not recorded in Brooklyn, where it is alleged to have been born on May 1, 1891. Mr. Randall is accused of having deserted his wife through the influence of his father.

Suit is threatened by the husband for divorce, and by the wife against Nelson Randall for conspiracy to alienate the affections of his son from the wife. Mr. Randall believes his wife is deranged, and she says the same of him.

Captain Head's Experience.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Captain William E. Head, a wealthy Irish land owner, county Tipperary, Ireland, bearing the position of police magistrate, stopped at the Harrison street police station last night. Since his arrival he has been duped right and left in America, and finds himself penniless. Captain Head arrived in Boston Sept. 21. He carried letters of introduction to the British ambassador in Washington, and he was soon in the capital city. He registered at the national hotel there and it was here he met his first introduction to American confidence men, who stole his pocketbook containing £500, his watch and chain and other valuables.

Sued For Divorce.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Patrick Willis, for many years a prominent Democratic politician in this city, but now employed in New York, has been sued for absolute divorce and alimony by his wife, who resides here. Property in this city has been attached to the amount of $10,000. The complainant alleges that Willis lived for several years with a woman in New York as his wife. Willis is reputed to be well off financially.

Company Must Move.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Judge Hall has filed his decision in the case of William H. Clay et al. against the Waterbury Wheel and Spoke company. The plaintiffs claim that the steam from the factory and the noise was a nuisance. Judge Hall found the allegations true, and the company can no longer carry on their business at that location.

Robbed the Government.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—The case of Boyd, Ryne & Campbell, wholesale stationers, who are charged with defrauding the customs, is said to be one of the worst ever brought to the notice of the customs department. False invoicing, undervaluation and smuggling are all charged, and this, it is said, has been going on for several years.

Caprivi Displeased.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Chancellor Von Caprivi has decided to stop the attempt made by several journals to make trouble between him and Count Botho Fulenburg, Prussian minister resident. Caprivi's friends says that reports of their mutual jealousies are malicious lies.

Spanish Steamer Overdue.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Fears are felt for the safety of the Spanish steamer Ciudad Condal, which sailed for this port from Havana on Oct. 10, and was due here on Saturday. She carries a crew of 72 men.

Cattle Thief Summarily Dealt With.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Oct. 18.—William Jones, wanted for stealing cattle from the Cherokee strip, opened fire on a posse, who attempted to arrest him. The officers returned the fire instantly killing Jones.

Cherokee Bonds Sold.

FORT GIBSON, I. T., Oct. 18.—The $600,000 of Cherokee Strip bonds are sold. The Cherokee delegation signed the agreement with representatives of an English syndicate.

Windle Beats Maintjes' Record.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 18.—W. W. Windle, in an attempt at the five-mile bicycle record here, reduced the three-mile mark of 6:45 1-5, made by Meintjes, to 6:43. He fell behind the record on the fourth mile and stopped.

Connecticut Financier Dead.

DANBURY, Conn., Oct. 18.—Frederick Seymour Williman, ex-treasurer of Connecticut, is dead. He was 88 years old, and was one of the oldest active bankers in the country. In his earlier days he was prominent in politics.

CONGRESS

Senators Indulge in Unbecoming Personalities.

THE DIGNITY OF THE SENATE FAST DECLINING.

Sherman Appeals to Democrats to Come to an Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The most interesting and important debate that has been heard in the senate chamber during the present session was the one that took place yesterday. Mr. Dolph (Rep., Or.) made a point on Monday evening that the two Populist senators—Allen of Nebraska and Kyle of South Dakota—had not answered to their names, although they were present, and he contended that their presence should be entered in the journal.

Around that question the parliamentary struggle waged all day, and bristled with bitter sarcasm, jokes and personalities. Mr. Dolph having expressed himself as "tired" of all the obstruction, was told by Mr. Harris (Dem., Tenn.) that if he was tired he had better sit down and rest, and that would be a relief to the senator himself and to the senate.

Mr. Hoar made a statement that "On all questions which affect the welfare of the American people by rules, through rules or over rules, by the senate, through the senate or over the senate, the irresistible will of the American people will have its way."

Mr. Hill (Dem., N. Y.) argued in favor of Mr. Dolph's contention. He said that the art of "how to do it" seemed to be the effort of the senate.

Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) spoke of Mr. Hill as a New York politician who had introduced the heresy of counting a quorum when he was president of the New York senate.

Mr. Hill retorted ironically that there were no politicians in Alabama. There they were all statesmen, and he twitted Mr. Morgan's expressed reverence for the constitution of the United States by suggesting that for a certain portion of that senator's career he had been supporting another constitution.

Mr. Morgan spent a good deal of time over what he called a coalition between Democratic and Republican senators, and when Mr. Washburn (Rep., Minn.) denied that there was any such coalition he was tartly stopped by Mr. Morgan, who said that he had not a thought in his mind of the Minnesota senator as one of the Republican leaders.

Then an allusion to the conference of national banks in getting up the coalition was resented by Mr. Gray, who said that it was not true; and when Mr. Morgan asked him whether he wanted to make a personal matter of it, Mr. Gray modified the remark by saying that, so far as he was concerned, it was not true.

Mr. Washburn, having declared his resolve not to be stamped upon or insulted, he was told by Mr. Morgan that he was responsible for what he said, whether in the senate or outside, and added: "You understand that—perfectly responsible."

The great speech of the day was made by Mr. Sherman. He criticised the Democratic senators very severely for their failure to come to some agreement among themselves, and counselled them to do so.

Without arriving at any decision on the question the senate at 5:30 p. m. took a recess until 10 a. m. today.

Caucus Talk.

Senator Sherman's speech caused some of the Democrats to ask whether it was not time for them to agree upon united action. Before the decision had been reached to take a recess until today Mr. Vest began circulating among his colleagues a petition addressed to the chairman of the caucus asking him to issue a call for the caucus. The call, which Mr. Vest had drawn up, was carefully worded, and every man who signed it thereby pledged himself to abide by the decision of that caucus. It was noticeable that when this paper was presented to Democratic repealers they declined, after reading the caption, to sign the request.

It requires 23 Democrats, a majority of the majority, to make this call effective, and, according to the count of the silver Democrats, they have just that number. This estimate includes Mr. Kyle and Mr. Martin, who are, the southern men claim, more Democrats than Populists. Mr. Vest hopes to get some of the repeal Democrats to sign his paper.

It is said that when Mr. Voorhees moved to take a recess, and, as he said, poured oil on the troubled waters, he knew of the contemplated caucus, and thought it best not to push matters pending the attempt of his colleagues to get together.

Democrats Not Pledged.

When asked the point blank question whether or not the administration Democrats would enter this caucus, one of Mr. Voorhees' warmest supporters said there could be no doubt that if the majority ordered the caucuses all Democrats would participate in its deliberations. Not having signed the caucus pledge, they would be free to act for themselves, and while some would not go to the extent of binding themselves beforehand, this senator said he expected much good to grow out of the conference. The mere fact that a caucus was held, if it debate held, was, he said, significant of itself. If the fight for unconditional repeal is to be continued on the lines now laid down, a caucus was absolutely unnecessary. A caucus could mean but one thing, and that was compromise.

It is not probable that the caucus will be held earlier than tonight, and possibly not then. Repeal senators will not admit that the caucus will act contrary to the present attitude of the administration, for they deny that the silver men are in the majority.

In the House.

Mr. Phillips (Rep., Pa.) introduced in the house a bill to provide for the coinage of silver dollars and to maintain them at par. The most striking feature of the bill is the provision:

That in case the silver dollar at any time declines below its face value, and ceases to circulate at par, the secretary of the treasury is then authorized to redeem or exchange for gold said silver dollars on presentation until they shall again be current at their face or par value; and to enable the secretary of the treasury to do this, and for this purpose alone, he is hereby authorized to issue and sell for gold United States 3 percentum bonds interest, payable semi-annually in gold and the principal payable in gold in 30 years, but such issues shall not exceed $10,000,000 in any one month nor be more than $100,000,000 in all.

The bill repeals the Sherman act. It provides for the coinage of seigniorage and the retirement of one and two dollar notes from circulation.

While the storm is raging in the senate, there is a great calm in the house. Monday the important bill extending for six months the time in which the Chinese might be permitted to register was passed without opposition. Yesterday a bill dispensing with proof of loyalty in the cases of persons, who, before the war, were entitled to pensions or to bounty lands, was objected to by Mr. Burrows (Rep., Mich.) as far as the pension clause was concerned.

Thereupon Mr. Oates, who had charge of the measure, courteously withdrew the pension clause and the bill was passed. Then came up the proposition for the better control of national banks, and after a cordial exchange of views between its supporters and opponents it was agreed to without even a division. The remainder of the day was consumed in the consideration of the public printing bill. Without disposing of it, the house at 5 o'clock adjourned.

WAS DEEPLY IN DEBT.

Charles Copeland Believed to Have Died by His Own Hand.

EAST BRIDGEWATER, Mass., Oct. 18.—Charles W. Copeland was found dead yesterday afternoon in a field near his house. He started from home in the morning with a double barreled shotgun for the stated purpose of getting some partridges. He appeared in excellent spirits, and had arranged with Mrs. Copeland to go to Boston when he came back. Not returning as soon as anticipated, search was made, and Mr. Copeland's dead body was found with a charge of buckshot through the heart. The gun, however, was lying with the muzzle pointing away from him and near a stone wall, over which Mr. Copeland may have fallen.

The medical examiner decided that death was due to accident, but there is a growing belief that it was suicide. Mr. Copeland was a member of C. W. Copeland & Co., boot and shoe manufacturers, who failed in 1883 for $750,000. The C. W. Copeland Manufacturing company was then organized and their building was burned in 1886. Mr. Copeland then withdrew from the business and has been in the stock and dairy farming business. His property has been heavily mortgaged and a foreclosure was to have been made on his household property yesterday, a keeper being in charge.

Friends Think He Is Demented.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Nathan Wolfe, one of the principal witnesses in the Schloss case, in which Drs. Whitten and Lee were acquitted, has mysteriously disappeared. His family fear that the strain he underwent has made him demented. Wolfe was first a witness for the state and afterward went on the stand for the defence, admitting that he had perjured himself by his first testimony in order to shield Cash, who was on trial as an accessory.

Nutmeg State Knights of Honor.

HARTFORD, Oct. 18.—The grand council of the Knights of Honor of Connecticut held its 16th annual session in Odd Fellows' hall here. The following officers were elected: Grand dictator, George W. Daines of East Litchfield; grand vice dictator, Phineas A. Spencer of Meriden; grand assistant dictator, J. L. Barrett of Ansonia; grand treasurer, James A. Kelsey of Middletown; grand reporter, C. W. Skiff of Danbury.

Asquith and the Peers.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Herbert Asquith, home secretary, speaking in Glasgow last evening, denied the right of the house of lords to force a dissolution of parliament. The electors themselves should be blamed, he said, for tolerating a system which placed the gigantic power in such irresponsible hands as those of the peers. He denied that the ministers intended to reintroduce the home rule bill in the next session.

Loose Finances Alleged.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Application was made in the superior court here asking for the removal of John B. Wallace as trustee of the insolvent Electrical Supply company of Ansonia on the grounds that Wallace owes the concern over $100,000. The court has been asked to order the books of the insolvent firm of Wallace & Sons of Ansonia inspected by an expert, as they were greatly muddled.

Seventeen Men Badly Injured.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 18.—A freight engine and train collided with a car containing 70 employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad company returning from their work in the lower yard to this city. The car was broken up and the hot stove overturned among the men, 17 of whom were very seriously injured.

Killed His Sister and Himself.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Jacob Winter, 28 years old, a truck driver, shot and killed his sister Louisa last night. Winter then shot himself in the head and died instantly. The cause of the shooting is said to be because the girl received the attentions of a barber against her brother's wishes.

Jewelers Out of Pocket.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 18.—The manufacturing jewelry trade was surprised by the news of the failure in Chicago of Adolph Shakeman, a wholesale jobber of that city. The losses to the manufacturers in Providence and Attleboro, Mass., are about $50,000, and the total, it is said, will reach $75,000.

Riotous Strikers.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A mob of striking coal miners at St. Helen's attacked a party of non-union miners. The nonunionists were beaten severely. The police charged the rioters, but the miners drove them into the colliery offices. Many policemen were injured.

Boat and Crew Lost.

BUFFALO, Oct. 18.—The schooner F. C. Leighton, with a crew of seven men, is reported to have gone down near Gravelly Bay with all on board some time during Saturday night's storm. The boat left Toledo for Buffalo last Wednesday.

Business Block Destroyed.

MANKATO, Kan., Oct. 18.—The principal business block in this town was destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $50,000.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA

Continue to Hobnob While Germany Looks on In Rage.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—At the president's dinner last night in honor of the visiting Russians, 104 covers were laid. After the dinner Mme. Carnot with Admiral Avelan opened the ball. The whole diplomatic corps had been invited. The Paris journalists entertained the visiting Russian correspondents at dinner.

When Admiral Avelan and his staff appeared on the balconies to answer the cheers of the crowd, the admiral, after bowing three times, put the French national standard to his lips and kissed it.

The crowd in the streets is beyond anything seen in recent years. The evening newspapers are very Chauvinistic. They comment upon the coming of the Russians as if the two nations were already together in the field and a war were half won. Several quote from foreign newspapers to show that the fetes are provoking the fury of German statesmen and editors.

BELCHERTOWN EXCITED

Over a Domestic Row Which Promises to Be Ventilated In Court.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. Oct. 18.—The town of Belchertown is agitated over a domestic trouble which will doubtless soon be tested in the courts. Clinton, son of Selectman Nelson Randall, accuses his wife of having deceived him by foisting a Brooklyn foundling upon him as his own child. Mrs. Randall denies the charge, and documentary evidence is held by each party.

Unfortunately, the birth of Mrs. Randall's child is not recorded in Brooklyn, where it is alleged to have been born on May 1, 1891. Mr. Randall is accused of having deserted his wife through the influence of his father.

Suit is threatened by the husband for divorce, and by the wife against Nelson Randall for conspiracy to alienate the affections of his son from the wife. Mr. Randall believes his wife is deranged, and she says the same of him.

Captain Head's Experience.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Captain William E. Head, a wealthy Irish land owner, county Tipperary, Ireland, bearing the position of police magistrate, stopped at the Harrison street police station last night. Since his arrival he has been duped right and left in America, and finds himself penniless. Captain Head arrived in Boston Sept. 21. He carried letters of introduction to the British ambassador in Washington, and he was soon in the capital city. He registered at the national hotel there and it was here he met his first introduction to American confidence men, who stole his pocketbook containing £500, his watch and chain and other valuables.

Sued For Divorce.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Patrick Willis, for many years a prominent Democratic politician in this city, but now employed in New York, has been sued for absolute divorce and alimony by his wife, who resides here. Property in this city has been attached to the amount of $10,000. The complainant alleges that Willis lived for several years with a woman in New York as his wife. Willis is reputed to be well off financially.

Company Must Move.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Judge Hall has filed his decision in the case of William H. Clay et al. against the Waterbury Wheel and Spoke company. The plaintiffs claim that the steam from the factory and the noise was a nuisance. Judge Hall found the allegations true, and the company can no longer carry on their business at that location.

Robbed the Government.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—The case of Boyd, Ryne & Campbell, wholesale stationers, who are charged with defrauding the customs, is said to be one of the worst ever brought to the notice of the customs department. False invoicing, undervaluation and smuggling are all charged, and this, it is said, has been going on for several years.

Caprivi Displeased.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Chancellor Von Caprivi has decided to stop the attempt made by several journals to make trouble between him and Count Botho Fulenburg, Prussian minister resident. Caprivi's friends says that reports of their mutual jealousies are malicious lies.

Spanish Steamer Overdue.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Fears are felt for the safety of the Spanish steamer Ciudad Condal, which sailed for this port from Havana on Oct. 10, and was due here on Saturday. She carries a crew of 72 men.

Cattle Thief Summarily Dealt With.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Oct. 18.—William Jones, wanted for stealing cattle from the Cherokee strip, opened fire on a posse, who attempted to arrest him. The officers returned the fire, instantly killing Jones.

Cherokee Bonds Sold.

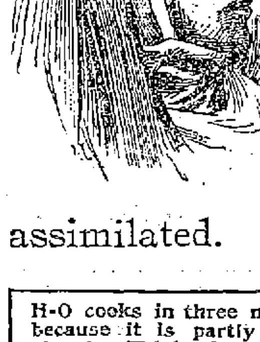

FORT GIBSON, I. T., Oct. 18.—The $600,000 of Cherokee Strip bonds are sold. The Cherokee delegation signed the agreement with representatives of an English syndicate.

Windle Beats Meintjes' Record.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 18.—W. W. Windle, in an attempt at the five-mile bicycle record here, reduced the three-mile mark of 6:45 1-5, made by Meintjes, to 6:43. He fell behind the record on the fourth mile and stopped.

Connecticut Financier Dead.

DANBURY, Conn., Oct. 18.—Frederick Seymour Williman, ex-treasurer of Connecticut, is dead. He was 88 years old, and was one of the oldest active bankers in the country. In his earlier days he was prominent in politics.

For Governor:

JOHN E. RUSSELL.

For Lieut.-Governor:

JAMES B. CARROLL.

For Senator:

PETER J. BRADY.

IF GREENHALGE had only burned that letter.

EVERYONE KNOWS now what senatorial dignity and courtesy means.

THE PROPOSITION to elect United States senators by popular vote ought to receive a hearty endorsement about this time. One of the planks in the Massachusetts democratic platform favors such a change.

IT IS pretty small politics to be forever harping on Candidate Russell's declaration that he would never come to speak again in Lowell. Everyone knows that the utterance came under most irritating circumstances. To carry out the determination would be so very silly that the republican papers might well poke fun at the candidate. To do the sensible thing is always praiseworthy. Give us arguments if you have them and not chaff, brethren of the republican press.

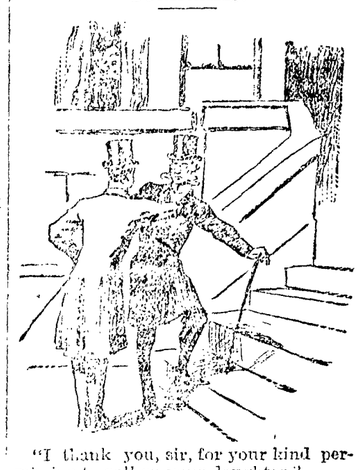

A MAN may be a free trader but he cannot give the people free trade unless they want it. He may be a prohibitionist, yet he cannot prevent the people from making, selling and drinking rum until they get ready to stop. Candidates are men who announce their willingness to serve the people in a particular capacity. They are never elected to do as they please but as the people direct. Officials cannot always follow their own inclinations or convictions. They must do the bidding of the people or get out of office. Garfield was said to be a free trader but he never had an opportunity to sign a free trade bill. John Sherman is anxious to kill the silver bill of which he is the father, but his silver monstrosity still lives. He thought he knew what the people wanted but he didn't. He knows now and is likely to vote as they direct or take the consequences.

A WORD WITH YOU YOUNG MAN.

Young man don't be in too much of a hurry to get riches or honors. You may set it down as a fact supported by the experience of ages, that riches and honors seldom come to men without hard work and personal merit. If you see a chance to get rich without labor or risk, look it over again and see if it is not a trap to rob you of the little you have, or a villainous scheme to rob some one else for your benefit. It is next to impossible in ordinary business or professional channels to get wealthy in a short time and do it honestly. To acquire honor and fame is a most laudable ambition. Before you start out make up your mind that no man ever got either who did not deserve them. Office is no honor in itself. It is often the means of making a man more ridiculous or notorious as it affords him an excellent opportunity of showing the public how little he knows or how contemptible he is. Don't fish for a title unless you are man enough to wear it. Think of all the "Honorables" and "Colonels" that go to make up the great laughing stock of intelligent people. It were better for them that they had remained in obscurity. No office can put brains into a blockhead or give dignity to a cheap brawler. No title can make a gentleman out of a blackguard or bring honor to him who is not already honorable. To fill an office faithfully and efficiently, to wear a title with proper dignity, ability and integrity, requires a first-class man of brains, character, energy and talent. Such men are very scarce. They honor the offices they fill and the titles they wear. These are the men the people like and admire. If you aim high young man, be sure that you aim straight. The highest standard of excellence is moral excellence. A good honest reputation is the best capital you can have to start on. Honesty is the first and most important consideration. If you are industrious that is the next requisite, for you must study hard and work incessantly. Talent comes next in the order of importance and it is a good thing to cultivate. If you have all these you will get there without fail, if you are not in a hurry. Good luck may count for something, but not much. Never depend on it.

And by the way, don't get the idea into your head that all the glory and happiness of this earth comes from public office. Far from it. Don't imagine that all the brainy men are politicians or public speakers. The power of speech is not the greatest of accomplishments. It usually keeps a man in trouble. The "sputter" who talks and says nothing is a public bore. The "parrot" orator who tries to repeat what older men have said, is getting to be an intolerable nuisance. The ablest living men are not talkers. They are workers. As the great Dougherty said, the days of oratory are over. It is almost a lost art. Nothing short of a genius can pass as an orator these days. If your talents lead you in any other direction let public office alone. It has destroyed more men than it ever made. You can win greater honor and wealth without it. Mayors, governors, congressmen and presidents are very insignificant men when compared with the scientists, philosophers, inventors, the great generals of business and industrial enterprises, the wizards of finance, the giants of the learned professions, the masters of the arts, the authors, poets and mighty thinkers of the world. Read, young man; read until you find out how little you know. Then start right and keep at it.

SUNBEAMS.

"I thank you, sir, for your kind permission to call on your daughter."

"Remember that I turn out the gas at 10 o'clock."

"All right, sir. I'll not come befo that time."—Life.

Evidence of It.

There is a certain member of the Chicago bar who is noted for his low, weak voice and unobtrusive way. On one occasion the gifted Emery A. Storrs came into the office and inquired for this man. A clerk said he was out.

"Oh, no," said Mr. Storrs; "he is in the inner room."

"How do you know that?" asked the clerk, alarmed by the guess.

"How do I know it?" answered Storrs. "Why, it is so darned still!"—Argonaut.

Total Depravity.

"Just think of it!" exclaimed Mr. Lushly's wife. "Just think of it!"

"Just think of what?" asked Lushly.

"This newspaper states that in Belgium there are 150,000 saloons and 5,000 schools."

Lushly was silent in thought.

"What do you think of that?" asked his wife.

"Why—er—ain't that a good many schools for such a small country?"—Washington Star.

Assured of the Future.

"But, Herbert," she said, "think of the future. You are poor, and you cannot surround me with the luxuries to which I have been accustomed."

"But your father"——

"He would do nothing for us."

"Does he play poker?"

"No."

"Then I'll teach him. Trust in me, darling, and have no fear of the future."—Texas Siftings.

All the Same.

"Literature certainly runs in the Greensmith family. The two daughters write poetry that nobody will print, the sons write plays that nobody will act, and the mother writes novels that nobody will read."

"And what does the father write?"

"Oh, he writes checks that nobody will cash."—Press and Printer.

Thought It Was Strange.

Upon one occasion an actor who rarely knew his part deliberately posed through an entire act of "Julius Cæsar" and left the reponsibility of the scene upon the shoulders of his colleagues. They managed to pull through without him by incorporating his lines into their own parts, and when the curtain dropped they went in a body to the culprit's dressing room. He was calmly reading a newspaper when the door was burst open.

"Well, sir," said the irate star, "what do you mean by placing us in such a predicament?"

"What are you talking about?" said the actor.

"What am I talking about? That scene, sir."

"What was the matter with it?"

"Why, you never once opened your mouth; didn't speak a single line, sir."

"Didn't, eh? Well, by Jove, do you know, it struck me the scene hung fire."—Amusement Globe.

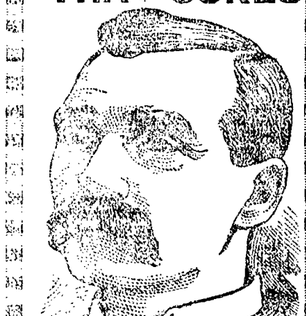

His Vocation.

THE KIND THAT CURES

J. R. HERSEY, Spencer, Mass.

"INDIGESTION AND Extreme Constipation."

"My Friends Thought I Must Die."

"I AM NOW A CURED MAN."

The following wonderful statement was given us by C. B. Carpenter, Druggist, 140 Main St., Spencer, Mass.

DANA SARSAPARILLA CO.:

GENTS—Some two years ago I commenced to suffer with INDIGESTION and SEVERE CONSTIPATION. I had a continuous headache, my skin turned yellow, and my friends thought I must die. My strength left me and I was a mere skeleton. This was my condition last February when I commenced to take

DANA'S SARSAPARILLA

Before the first bottle was gone, there was a great improvement. My friends wanted to know what had made such a change in me. I replied "DANA'S SARSAPARILLA." I am now taking my third bottle and consider myself at the age of 20, after Doctors had failed, a CURED MAN.

Yours respectfully, J. R. HERSEY.

How They Parted.

She had set her subtlest snares
To entrap him unawares
In the ballroom on the stairs
She had cornered him that night.
He could not escape her clutch,
Though he wanted to—so much!
Under circumstances such
There was only hope in flight.

Meanwhile he was forced to prance
With her through the dreamy dance
O'er the ballroom's gay expanse,
Vainly striving to be gay.
Just because she chanced to be
Daughter of his hostess, he
Had to bear her tyranny,
Wishing he was miles away.

When at last he gained the door,
Eager to be free once more,
Radiant was the smile she wore
As she softly said, "Goodby,"
Adding in a whisper low,
While her cheeks were all aglow,
"Tomorrow I'll be home, you know!"
"Ah," he answered. "So will I."

For the benefit of those who contemplate house-keeping, whether on a large or small scale, we have prepared a set of Plans so arranged in goods and prices as to be adapted to the wants of all classes, and which will be found of the greatest assistance to beginners and others who aim to get the best possible results for their money, and which combine the greatest possible usefulness with the least possible expenditure. These Plans will be known as

Robertson's Exclusive Adjustable Plans,

and are the outcome of our very extensive dealings with the public and our thorough knowledge of their requirements. We claim for them the following essential elements, on which we base their success:

ORIGINALITY, BECAUSE no house in proposed or adopted any such plans for securing to the purchaser such benefits as these afford, and because no matter what competitors may promise or hold out in copying these plans (as they undoubtedly will) they must fall far short of the quality, even if the quantity and prices are the same. On this particular point you get our guarantee.

FEASIBILITY, BECAUSE these plans have been originated and prepared by us, not merely for an advertisement, but are intended as a positive benefit to the purchaser in helping him to secure such goods as will give the greatest satisfaction in every respect. AND WE GUARANTEE that the goods set forth in either plan, if taken altogether, shall be found from $15 to $50 cheaper than they can be bought for elsewhere.

POPULARITY, BECAUSE all intending purchasers can find in these plans the realization of their ideas, and because no matter which you accept, you will find it is just exactly as if you had framed it yourself.

"BREAKING IN."
Many a man has "broken out" in a passion, and felt all "broken up" trying to get a new pair of shoes "broken in." He has had to "break off" many an engagement on account of crippled feet, and has gone "broke" many a time trying to get relief for his corns—the direct cause of ill-fitting shoes. But nowadays things are different. With the advent of
came absolute foot-comfort from the first wearing and no "breaking in" is required. A good-looking, good-wearing shoe," costing but $3 and worth twice the money.

Quality, Not Quantity.

THE SIZE Of a newspaper is no guarantee of its excellence. The public wants quality, not quantity, in a newspaper. News that is old is not improved by spreading it over a large number of pages, where the reader must hunt to find it. You can read in the padded sheets tomorrow much of what you see in THE SUN today.

LOCAL NEWS.

Smoke Tower's Corner cigar.

Business is said to be rushing at the Lowell Machine shop.

Daniel Swan's team stolen Sunday night from the First Universalist church has not yet been found.

Court General Butler, A. O. F., had a well attended meeting last evening. The court is flourishing.

The Drecut Center church will hold a sociable at the residence of Rev. M. D. Fuller, Bellevue, tomorrow.

The new high school building will be formally opened next Monday. The pupils will march in a body from the old building to enter their new temple of education.

Street car traffic was delayed half an hour on Gorham street last night by the burning out of a fuse in one of the motors in car No 121 of the North Billerica line.

It is stated that several mills in the south have placed orders with Jeremiah Clark for second-hand cards and mules. One large Georgia mill has sent for equipment of second-hand looms.

The Boston Traveller says: The Lowell mule spinners have voted to postpone their strike, thus indicating that there is nothing mulish about them at all. The Traveller was mulish to think otherwise.

It might be said that the aldermen took the first step towards the construction of a new bridge on East Merrimack street, last night, when they passed the resolution for widening of East Merrimack street.

Mayor Pickman must have thought he was presiding over a session of the court, last evening, when at the conclusion of the meeting of the aldermen he remarked: "It is moved and seconded that the court adjourn."

Inspector Condon who is here to inspect the work on the new post office expects the exterior work will be completed in three weeks, and that the interior will be so far advanced during the winter that the building may be occupied in the spring.

Mr. Lawrence Will Fight.

Mr. Abbott Lawrence has been nominated for representative by the republicans of Ward Six, but now some members of the party are in favor of his withdrawal. Mr. Lawrence, however, is in favor of remaining. He prefers to be turned down if at all by the voters of the ward on election day.

Theatre Party.

As an outcome of the bowling match the lady compositors of the Courier and Citizen went to Boston last evening, and attended a performance at the Boston theatre. They enjoyed the show, and after a lunch returned on the theatre train on which they were entertained by ten of the Apollos of the Courier office who escorted them home.

SEEN AND HEARD.

A story is now being told of a man who for years had been a fixture at some of the Ward Three refreshment dispensaries. This man had never been naturalized, and probably never would have been had not some of "troops" got at him and poured eloquence and logic into his appreciative mind. They told him that to be naturalized would be the making of him and finally he consented to become a citizen of the United States. The sovereignty of the people, and the part thereof wielded by a single voter had been thoroughly impressed upon him, and on the day appointed he walked into one of his old haunts dressed in his best Sunday clothes. His "gang" could not understand it, and asked why he had dressed up on a week day. He made no answer other than to invite them to the bar. When the glasses had been filled and they were about to wish each other success, the candidate for naturalization suddenly said: "Now boys drink hearty. In the future I will notice yez as I always did but I'll not mingle wid yez any more because when I see yez agin I'll be an American citizen."

Even the new city hall is made food for a joke, and yesterday morning a well known man went into one of the offices to visit a friend of his, an assistant clerk. When the visitor had succeeded in attracting the attention of a number of employes he began examining carefully the locks in the office doors. When asked why he did so, he replied: "I understand that time locks have been put on all the doors which close them promptly at 3 o'clock every day, thus preventing the clerks from working overtime."

"Oh isn't the city hall just lovely said a lady who visited it yesterday. The interior is better than you would expect from the exterior appearance but the surroundings are not what they should be. That lot in front of city hall should be put in proper condition before the snow flies so that it will not be impassable with mud during the winter. While so much has been expended on the new building there is no reason why the surroundings should not be made to accord with the beauty of the edifice."

The new alleys of the Miserables will be the center of attraction for bowlers this winter and we may expect to see records broken and most exciting tournaments carried out. With their present prominence as bowlers the Miserables' best team will in time be able to challenge any team in the state. One thing to be regretted by the members is that President E. P. McOsker will either have to resign or give up his aspirations to be fire chief. How can he respond to fire alarms and attend bowling contests at the same time?

How pleasant it is to walk after a man on the street who is letting volumes of smoke out of his mouth only to be inhaled by those immediately behind him. The men who enjoy an old dudeen along the street seldom think how ridiculous they make themselves by moving around with their pipes in their mouths. Well bred people would not be guilty of such an act of discourtesy. But if it is bad to smoke on the street in a crowd it is still worse to chew and expectorate tobacco juice in all directions.

In this regard if a reform is to be made it should be started at the right end—at the bottom where you meet on the street the little urchin who hails you "g'y me a match please." To come it is a conundrum what he wants with a match but he smokes cigarettes "don't yer know."

The greatest favor that you can confer on a friend is to give them your photo. The place to get photos taken is at Marion's, Barristers hall.

Last week's clearings were $690,755.71 and balances $160,922.69. For the corresponding week of 1892 the items were $771,813.70 and $552,763.92.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester give their second monthly reception on Wednesday, Oct. 18. Former pupils and friends are invited. Music, Hibbard's orchestra. Dancing from 8 to 11.30. (Informal.)

The Clerks Getting Together.

The Clerks' association held a meeting in their hall in Wyman's Exchange last evening. About $40 were paid out in sick benefits. Two new members were taken in and several applications for membership were made.

Hustle and Bustle.

That is what can be seen at Robertson's furniture store. Mr. Robertson is doing more business this season than ever before in his business career. Low prices, good stock and honest dealings brought about this happy state of affairs. John is a hustler and you can save money by trading with him. Remember the place, 56, 58 and 60 Central street.

AMERICAN MECHANICS

Preparations For a Field Day In Lowell.

The American Mechanics are making elaborate preparations for a field day in this city next Saturday. The two local councils met last evening to perfect the arrangements. Visiting brethren are expected from Nashua and Lawrence.

The committee on parade met at Union hall last evening and selected the following officers: Chief marshall, Clarence Dana; chief of staff, G. L. Hubbard; assistant marshals, S. W. Fletcher, W. W. Simpson, G. W. Huntoon, and Levi Boothby; aids, C. M. Young, W. I. Leach, George S. Gilman, W. H. Monty, J. M. Irvin, J. E. Pattee, Fred Parker, I. M. Locke and William Hills.

The program as outlined contemplates an assembling of Lexington Council at Union hall at 12.30 and of Columbia Council at Odd Fellows' hall at the same hour. As soon as they can get ready both councils will proceed to the South common, where the line will be formed at 1 o'clock. At 2.30 the procession will start and parade through the streets, but the exact route has not yet been decided upon. The committee is to meet again this evening and this matter will be settled.

It was expected that the organization would march to the High school and hoist the flag presented to the committee but the decision of the lands and buildings committee regarding the matter seems to preclude the flag raising.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

First Session in the New and Delightful Quarters.

The first meeting of the board of aldermen in the new city hall was held last evening. It was a regular session and the business transacted was of a routine nature. The galleries were crowded with spectators. Mayor Pickman before calling the meeting to order congratulated the members who were privileged to be the first to sit in the new building. He hoped they would continue in office, to be as faithful and energetic in the transaction of business during the remainder of the year as they have been heretofore. "I ask that you be punctual in everything. I desire to return my thanks to the members of the dedication committee who so ably assisted me in making a success of the dedication ceremonies; to Chief Howard and Chief Hosmer for faithful service rendered during the exercises; to Supt. Bray and his assistant, Mr. Foley, and to Merrill & Cutler, the architects, who voluntarily rendered valuable service."

The following petitions were referred: Of A. C. Persons, that Foster street be widened; of Shepard, Russell & Co., that a gas light be placed at the corner of Boylston and Rea streets; of Peter Oleshen, that Billerica street be paved; of A. E. Bertrand, for a sixth class license; of F. Ouilette, for express license; of P. J. Farley, for a bowling license; of J. H. Burke and John Kearney, for transfer of licenses; of John A. Smith, for an electric light on Anne street; of Simon B. Harris et al., for an electric light on Westford street; of Benj. Scholefield, for an electric light on Billerica street; of D. W. Fitch, to remodel a wooden building; of Edward McQuade, to alter a roof on a wooden building; of E. S. Hylan that Thomas Carroll be appointed as special officer; of C. M. Young, for an undertaker's license.

Notice was received stating that George W. Jackson, Henry J. Bolan and Thomas McDonough who had been appointed election officers for Ward Four, are not voters of that ward.

Several reports from the street committee were ordered to lie in the clerk's office seven days.

The following resolutions took their final passage: That Beacon street be widened and sidewalks be laid on both sides of the street; that a sidewalk be laid on the westerly side of Livingston avenue in front of the premises of Wm H. Bent; that East Merrimack street from Merrimack square to Stackpole street be widened and graded and the lines established; William J. Heelon was granted a hack license; Arthur E. Bertrand was granted a sixth class license; Geo. M. Clarke was appointed a special police officer.

At this point Mayor Pickman said that he desired to add to the few remarks he made at the opening. He wished to thank policemen and firemen, especially the firemen, who kindly volunteered their services at the dedicatory exercises. It had come to his notice that several ex-members of the city government had been overlooked in the sending out of invitations. This was not intentional; it was merely an oversight on the part of the clerks who addressed the envelopes.

Aldermen Evans and McDonald were appointed a committee on perambulation of the lines between the city of Lowell and the town of Chelmsford.

The report of the committee on ordinance and legislation was accepted.

The order for the amendment to chapt. 20 of the ordinances, providing for the appointment of an assistant engineer was laid upon the table, on motion of Alderman Westall, the motion being passed by a strict party vote.

The ordinance relative to the regulating of the hack business was referred to the committee on bills in second reading.

The following were appointed to fill the vacancies in the list of election officers in Ward Four: William R. Killpatrick, James N. Connors and John H. O'Neil.

The amendment to chapt. 6 was reported correctly drawn and was passed to be enrolled.

On motion of Alderman Puffer the board adjourned.

A DASTARDLY ACT.

Three Hunters at Chelmsford Succeed in Shooting Tame Rabbits.

A rather peculiar message reached THE SUN editorial room yesterday afternoon from North Chelmsford. It came over the telephone and was to the effect that last Sunday three prominent members of the Saugus club purchased two rabbits and a partridge from a resident of North Chelmsford. They took the game and tied them to a tree on the Saugus club grounds. Yesterday, the three members were seen again prowling about the club grounds and the suspicions of the man who sold the rabbits and partridge were immediately aroused. He watched them and imagine his feelings when he saw these three men deliberately shoot down in cold blood those defenceless creatures. He reproached them for their action, and they frankly acknowledged that the deed was premeditated; that they did not like the idea of returning from their hunting trip without any spoil.

President Meade was informed of the conduct of the men and they will probably be expelled from the club at the next meeting.

Democrats Register.

The hours for registration at the new City hall are 1 to 2 and from 7 to 9 p. m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, and from 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next week, and from 12 o'clock noon to 10 p. m. on Saturday, the 28th. No one can vote unless he be registered. It is not necessary to pay your poll tax to register and vote, but applicants must take their tax bills and naturalized citizens their final papers.

Evening School Registration.

Registration is now going on in the evening schools and if the numbers are more than anticipated by the committee additional rooms will be opened in several of the schools. The pupils who can attend should therefore make application as early as possible. Registration for the evening high school is being conducted in the old Mann school. This building will be vacated by the High school next Monday.

Northern and eastern beef cattle—Trade was dull and only a few cattle were sold during the market hours. These were taken by home and country slaughterers for immediate consumption at from 3c to 4c pr lb.

Milch cows and springers—The demand was dull. The general quality of the offerings was good. Buyers claim that cows were costing a little higher than last week, while drovers said that there was no change. The latter expect better trade than they have had for several weeks.

Veal calves—There was a little lighter supply than last week. The quality of the calves was about the same and prices showed no change from those quoted one week ago. A clearance was effected.

Sheep and lambs—The western arrivals were shipped direct to a slaughter house. Among the arrivals were a few bunches of good lambs which sold at 4½c pr lb. Sheep are quoted a trifle easier.

Western beef cattle—Western cattle are quoted as costing higher, and there is but little demand for the stock at this market.

BROKER IN TROUBLE.

He is $750,000 Short in His Accounts.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. A great sensation was caused on Warwick street today by the arrest of a broker named W. A. Tattan for embezzlement. It is alleged that he is short $750,000 in his accounts with nominal assets of $11,000. He has been well known for twenty years past.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Bond, J.

When Judge Bond opened court this morning the case of Michael J. O'Boyle for assault was resumed having taken up a good portion of yesterday's session. Mr. O'Boyle was the first witness called this morning. He testified that he went to the store in question and ordered the complainant out, not knowing her. She wouldn't go and he took her under the arm and led her to the door. She tried to fall and he wouldn't let her. It was not his fault that she fell. Witness had put two or three keepers in the store during the day. Mr. Annis witness said gave some things in the store away saying that she could do as she pleased. A discussion between Mr. O'Connell and the court regarding the competency of some of the evidence given by Mr. O'Boyle occupied some time. On cross examination witness admitted that he is not a constable now, and that he was the M. J. O'Boyle who was convicted of drunkenness in the police court. He does not drink now.

The next witness called was Mr. Moulton, who was one of the keepers there. He testified that during the afternoon while he was there Mrs. Annis went to wait on some customers, and witness was leaning on his arm nearby. Mrs. Annis came from behind the counter and told him to get out using force towards him. Mrs. Annis, the complainant, was recalled, and then all the evidence was in. Mr. O'Connell in beginning his argument for the defendant said that the case was one of the greatest importance for it affected every constable in the Commonwealth. Asst. District Attorney Sanderson finished his argument at 11.30.

Judge Bond delivered a very lengthy charge to the jury, it being their first case and at 12.30 they retired.

John Brigandi was called and a default will be recorded if he fails to appear.

The case of Martin Sullivan and Patrick McDonough for assault on Thomas E. Smith was then called. The complainant, Thomas E. Smith was the first witness.

There are undoubtedly many people who feel at some time or another unwell, not really sick but very indisposed. Now, what such persons need at such times, is not medicine, nor high-priced prescriptions, but what is needed is some gentle, but sure stimulant, something to assist and at the same time enrich the blood: nature will do the rest. CONGRESS

Senators Indulge in Unbecoming Personalities.

THE DIGNITY OF THE SENATE FAST DECLINING.

Sherman Appeals to Democrats to Come to an Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Oct 18.—The most interesting and important debate that has been heard in the senate chamber during the present session was the one that took place yesterday. Mr Dolph (Rep, Ore) made a point on Monday evening that the two Populist senators Allen of Nebraska and Kyle of South Dakota had not answered to their names, although they were present, and he contended that their presence should be entered in the journal.

Around that question the parliamentary struggle waged all day, and bristled with bitter sarcasm, jibes and personalities. Mr. Dolph having expressed himself as "tired" of all the obstruction, was told by Mr Harris (Dem, Tenn) that if he was tired he had better sit down and rest, and that would be a relief to the senator himself and to the senate.

Mr. Hoar made a statement that "On all questions which affect the welfare of the American people by rules, through rules or over rules, by the senate, through the senate or over the senate, the irresistible will of the American people will have its way."

Mr Hill (Dem, N Y) argued in favor of Mr Dolph's contention. He said that the art of "how to do it" seemed to be the effort of the senate.

Mr. Morgan (Dem, Ala) spoke of Mr. Hill as a New York politician who had introduced the heresy of counting a quorum when he was president of the New York senate.

Mr. Hill retorted ironically that there were no politicians in Alabama. There they were all statesmen, and he twitted Mr Morgan's expression of reverence for the constitution of the United States by suggesting that for a certain portion of that senator's career he had been supporting another constitution.

Mr. Morgan spent a good deal of time over what he called a coalition between Democratic and Republican senators, and when Mr. Washburn (Rep, Minn) denied that there was any such coalition he was tartly stopped by Mr Morgan, who said that he had not a thought in his mind of the Minnesota senator as one of the Republican leaders.

Then an allusion to the conference of national banks meeting up the coalition was resented by Mr. Gray, who said that it was not true; and when Mr. Morgan asked him whether he wanted to make a personal matter of it, Mr. Gray modified the remark by saying that, so far as he was concerned, it was not true.

Mr Washburn, having declared his resolve not to be stamped upon or insulted, he was told by Mr. Morgan that he was responsible for what he said, whether in the senate or outside, and added, "You understand that perfectly responsible."

The great speech of the day was made by Mr. Sherman. He criticised the Democratic senators very severely for their failure to come to some agreement among themselves, and counselled them to do so.

Without arriving at any decision on the question the senate at 5:30 p. m. took a recess until 10 a. m. today.

Caucus Talk.

Senator Sherman's speech caused some of the Democrats to ask whether it was not time for them to agree upon united action. Before the decision had been reached to take a recess until today Mr. Vest began circulating among his colleagues a petition addressed to the chairman of the caucus asking him to issue a call for the caucus. The call, which Mr. Vest had drawn up, was carefully worded, and every man who signed it thereby pledged himself to abide by the decision of that caucus. It was not seen that when this paper was presented to Democratic repealers they declined, after receiving the petition, to sign the request.

It requires 33 Democrats, a majority of the majority, to make this call effective, and, according to the count of the silver Democrats, they have just that number. This estimate includes Mr. Kyle and Mr Martin, who are, the southern men claim, more Democrats than Populists. Mr. Vest hopes to get some of the repeal Democrats to sign his paper.

It is said that when Mr. Voorhees moved to take a recess, and, as he said, poured oil on the troubled waters, he knew of the contemplated caucus, and thought it best not to put a battle spreading the attempt of his colleagues together.

Democrats Not Pledged.

When asked the point blank question whether or not the administration Democrats would enter the caucus, one of Mr. Voorhees' warmest supporters said there could be no doubt that a majority ordered the caucus all Democrats would pledge themselves to abide by the decision. Not having signed the caucus pledge, they would be free to vote for the repeal, and while some would not go to the extent of binding themselves beforehand, this senator said he expected much good to grow out of the conference. The mere fact that a caucus was held, if it debate held, was, he said, significant of itself. If the fight for unconditional repeal is to be continued on the floor now laid down, a caucus was absolutely unnecessary. A caucus could never but one thing, and that was compromise.

It is not probable that the caucus will be held earlier than today, and possibly not then. Repeal senators will not admit that the caucus will act contrary to the present attitude of the administration, for they deny that the silver men are in the majority.

In the House.

Mr Phillips (Rep, Pa) introduced in the house a bill to provide for the coinage of silver dollars and to maintain them at par. The most striking feature of the bill is the proviso that

That in case the silver dollar at any time declines below its par value, and ceases to circulate at par, the secretary of the treasury is thereby authorized to issue bonds for exchange for gold and silver dollars on presentation until they shall again by restored to their par value; and to enable the secretary of the treasury to do this, and for this purpose alone, he is hereby authorized to issue and sell for gold United States 3 per cent bonds bearing interest, payable semi-annually in gold and the principal payable in gold in 30 years, but such issues shall not exceed $100,000,000 in any one month nor be more than $500,000,000 in all.

The bill repeals the Sherman act. It provides for the coinage of seigniorage and the retirement of one and two dollar notes from circulation.

While the storm is raging in the senate, there is a great calm in the house. Monday the important bill extending for six months the time in which the Chinese might be permitted to register was passed without opposition. Yesterday a bill dispensing with proof of loyalty in the cases of persons, who, before the war, were entitled to pensions or to bounty lands, was objected to by Mr. Burrows (Rep., Mich.) as far as the pension clause was concerned.

Thereupon Mr. Oates, who had charge of the measure, courteously withdrew the pension clause and the bill was passed. Then came up the proposition for the better control of national banks, and after a cordial exchange of views between its supporters and opponents it was agreed to without even a division. The remainder of the day was consumed in the consideration of the public printing bill. Without disposing of it, the house at 5 o'clock adjourned.

WAS DEEPLY IN DEBT.

Charles Copeland Believed to Have Died by His Own Hand.

EAST BRIDGEWATER, Mass., Oct. 18.—Charles W. Copeland was found dead yesterday afternoon in a field near his house. He started from home in the morning with a double barreled shotgun for the stated purpose of getting some partridges. He ap, eared in excellent spirits, and had arranged with Mrs. Copeland to go to Boston when he came back. Not returning as soon as anticipated, search was made, and Mr. Copeland's dead body was found with a charge of buckshot through the heart. The gun, however, was lying with the muzzle pointing away from him and near a stone wall, over which Mr. Copeland may have fallen.

The medical examiner decided that death was due to accident, but there is a growing belief that it was suicide. Mr. Copeland was a member of C. W. Copeland & Co., boot and shoe manufacturers, who failed in 1883 for $759,000. The C. W. Copeland Manufacturing company was then organized and their building was burned in 1886. Mr. Copeland then withdrew from the business and has been in the stock and dairy farming business. His property has been heavily mortgaged and a foreclosure was to have been made on his household property yesterday, a keeper being in charge.

Friends Think He Is Demented.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Nathan Wolfe, one of the principal witnesses in the Schloss case, in which Drs. Whitten and Lee were acquitted, has mysteriously disappeared. His family fear that the strain he underwent has made him demented. Wolfe was first a witness for the state and afterward went on the stand for the defence, admitting that he had perjured himself by his first testimony in order to shield Cash, who was on trial as an accessory.

Nutmeg State Knights of Honor.

HARTFORD, Oct. 18.—The grand council of the Knights of Honor of Connecticut held its 18th annual session in Odd Fellows' hall here. The following officers were elected: Grand dictator, George W. Daines of East Litchfield; grand vice dictator, Phineas A. Spencer of Meriden; grand assistant dictator, J. L. Barrett of Ansonia; grand treasurer, James A. Kelsey of Middletown, grand reporter, C. W. Skiff of Danbury.

Asquith and the Peers.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Herbert Asquith, home secretary, speaking in Glasgow last evening, denied the right of the house of lords to force a dissolution of parliament. The electors themselves should be blamed, he said, for tolerating a system which placed the gigantic power in such irresponsible hands as those of the peers. He denied that the ministers intended to reintroduce the home rule bill in the next session.

Loose Finances Alleged.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Application was made in the superior court here asking for the removal of John B. Wallace as trustee of the insolvent Electrical Supply company of Ansonia on the grounds that Wallace owes the concern over $100,000. The court has been asked to order the books of the insolvent firm of Wallace & Sons of Ansonia inspected by an expert, as they were greatly muddled.

Seventeen Men Badly Injured.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 18.—A freight engine and train collided with a car containing 79 employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad company returning from their work in the lower yard to this city. The car was broken up and the hot stove overturned among the men, 17 of whom were very seriously injured.

Killed His Sister and Himself.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Jacob Winter, 28 years old, a truck driver, shot and killed his sister Louisa last night. Winter then shot himself in the head and died instantly. The cause of the shooting is said to be because the girl received the attentions of a barber against her brother's wishes.

Jewelers Out of Pocket.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 18.—The manufacturing jewelry trade was surprised by the news of the failure in Chicago of Adolph Shakeman, a wholesale jobber of that city. The losses to the manufacturers in Providence and Attleboro, Mass., are about $51,000, and the total, it is said, will reach $75,000.

Riotous Strikers.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A mob of striking coal miners at St. Helen's attacked a party of non-union miners. The non-unionists were beaten severely. The police charged the rioters, but the miners drove them into the colliery offices. Many policemen were injured.

Boat and Crew Lost.

BUFFALO, Oct. 18.—The schooner F. C. Leighton, with a crew of seven men, is reported to have gone down near Gravelly Bay with all on board some time during Saturday night's storm. The boat left Toledo for Buffalo last Wednesday.

Business Block Destroyed.

MANKATO, Kan., Oct. 18.—The principal business block in this town was destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $50,000.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA

Confine to Hobnob While Germany Looks on In Rage.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—At the president's dinner last night in honor of the visiting Russians, 104 covers were laid. After the dinner Mme. Carnot with Admiral Avelan opened the ball. The whole diplomatic corps had been invited. The Paris journalists entertained the visiting Russian correspondents at dinner.

When Admiral Avelan and his staff appeared on the balconies to answer the cheers of the crowd, the admiral, after bowing three times, put the French national standard to his lips and kissed it.

The crowd in the streets is beyond anything seen in recent years. The evening newspapers are very Chauvinistic. They comment upon the coming of the Russians as if the two nations were already together in the field and a war were half won. Several quote from foreign newspapers to show that the fetes are provoking the fury of German statesmen and editors.

BELCHERTOWN EXCITED

Over a Domestic Row Which Promises to Be Ventilated In Court.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. Oct. 18.—The town of Belchertown is agitated over a domestic trouble which will doubtless soon be tested in the courts. Clinton, son of Selectman Nelson Randall, accuses his wife of having deceived him by foisting a Brooklyn foundling upon him as his own child. Mrs. Randall denies the charge, and documentary evidence is held by each party.

Unfortunately, the birth of Mrs. Randall's child is not recorded in Brooklyn, where it is alleged to have been born on May 1, 1891. Mr. Randall is accused of having deserted his wife through the influence of his father.

Suit is threatened by the husband for divorce, and by the wife against Nelson Randall for conspiracy to alienate the affections of his son from the wife. Mr. Randall believes his wife is deranged, and she says the same of him.

Captain Head's Experience.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Captain William E. Head, a wealthy Irish land owner, county Tipperary, Ireland, bearing the position of police magistrate, stopped at the Harrison street police station last night. Since his arrival he has been duped right and left in America, and finds himself penniless. Captain Head arrived in Boston Sept. 21. He carried letters of introduction to the British ambassador in Washington, and he was soon in the capital city. He registered at the national hotel there and it was here he met his first introduction to American confidence men, who stole his pocketbook containing £500, his watch and chain and other valuables.

Sued For Divorce.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Patrick Willis, for many years a prominent Democratic politician in this city, but now employed in New York, has been sued for absolute divorce and alimony by his wife, who resides here. Property in this city has been attached to the amount of $10,000. The complainant alleges that Willis lived for several years with a woman in New York as his wife. Willis is reputed to be well off financially.

Company Must Move.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Judge Hall has filed his decision in the case of William H. Clay et al. against the Waterbury Wheel and Spoke company. The plaintiffs claim that the steam from the factory and the noise was a nuisance. Judge Hall found the allegations true, and the company can no longer carry on their business at that location.

Robbed the Government.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—The case of Boyd, Ryne & Campbell, wholesale stationers, who are charged with defrauding the customs, is said to be one of the worst ever brought to the notice of the customs department. False invoicing, undervaluation and smuggling are all charged, and this, it is said, has been going on for several years.

Caprivi Displeased.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Chancellor Von Caprivi has decided to stop the attempt made by several journals to make trouble between him and Count Botho Fulenburg, Prussian minister resident. Caprivi's friends says that reports of their mutual jealousies are malicious lies.

Spanish Steamer Overdue.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Fears are felt for the safety of the Spanish steamer Ciudud Condal, which sailed for this port from Havana on Oct. 10, and was due here on Saturday. She carries a crew of 72 men.

Cattle Thief Summarily Dealt With.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Oct. 18.—William Jones, wanted for stealing cattle from the Cherokee strip, opened fire on a posse, who attempted to arrest him. The officers returned the fire, instantly killing Jones.

Cherokee Bonds Sold.

FORT GIBSON, I. T., Oct. 18.—The $600,000 of Cherokee Strip bonds are sold. The Cherokee delegation signed the agreement with representatives of an English syndicate.

Windle Beats Meintjes' Record.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 18.—W. W. Windle, in an attempt at the five-mile bicycle record here, reduced the three-mile mark of 6:45 1-5, made by Meintjes, to 6:43. He fell behind the record on the fourth mile and stopped.

Connecticut Financier Dead.

DANBURY, Conn., Oct. 18.—Frederick Seymour Willman, ex-treasurer of Connecticut, is dead. He was 83 years old, and was one of the oldest active bankers in the country. In his earlier days he was prominent in politics.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Bond J.

The jury in the case of Michael J O'Boyle, who was fined $5 in the police court for assault and battery, returned a verdict of guilty. It is reported that Mr. O'Connell will take the case to the Supreme court on exceptions.

In the case of Bridget Hurley charged with illegal keeping of liquor, the jury found her guilty and imposed a fine of $125.

The first case called this morning was that of Charles McKenna charged with stealing three coats and a hat from the high school. McKenna conducted his own case. Chief Howard and Pawnbroker Mellen testified against McKenna. The defendant took the stand, and said he received the coat from a man in a barroom, who asked him to go and sell it. He pawned it and received $1.50. He knew nothing of the other two coats. Judge Bond then charged the jury.

The jury which was sent out to consider the charge of assault and battery upon Thomas E. Smith by Patrick McDonough and Martin Sullivan reported a finding of not guilty in both cases.

The case of Edward McMahon, who was charged with illegally keeping liquor was next called. Inspectors Donaldson and Welch testified to going and finding liquor in McMahon's place on Charles street. They found three cases of lager in a shed belonging to McMahon, and situated in Davis court, on Sept. 3, 1893. Officer Gregg said that he often saw men in an intoxicated condition hanging about McMahon's place on Sundays prior to Sept. 3, 1893. On one occasion he found it necessary to arrest two drunken men, who were loitering there. John J. Hogan, Esq., is counsel for the defendant and Assistant District Attorney Sanderson is conducting the prosecution.

Five witnesses for the defense and Mr. Hogan proceeded to open his side of the case.

The defendant took the stand and said he was a married man; had resided in this city for seven years and is a hod carrier by trade. He testified that a fence was built near his premises July 2. Several other families live in the same court with him, and the nearest and most convenient entrance to his house is from Charles street.

McMahon further testified to the visit of Inspectors Welch and Donaldson to his house and also to their finding the three cases of lager. Officer Welch told him that a particular friend had said that McMahon was selling liquor. The lager he said he bought for the use of some friends of his whom he expected to come from Salem on Labor day. His friends disappointed him owing to a more pressing engagement. With regard to the crowds seen coming out of his house on August 20, he said that on that day there was a wake in in the house, a baby belonging to the family above him, being dead.

James Connors lives near the defendant and generally takes a walk along Charles street. He never saw any drunken men or heard any disturbance about McMahon's place.

John Bohonan is also a resident of Charles street. He saw no crowds of people around McMahon's place.

Counsel Hogan and Assistant District Attorney Sanderson made their plea to the jury, and the court adjourned for the noon session.

No. 2 jury which was out on the case of Charles McKenna charged with larceny, found him guilty on the three charges prepared against him. The court imposed a sentence of 4 months at hard labor in the Lowell jail.

Civil Session.

The trial of civil action in which a trial by jury is notdemanded will be commenced today by Judge Dunbar and as soon as they are finished the divorce cases will be taken up.

AN ADDITION

TO BE MADE TO ST. JOHN'S HOSPITAL.

Arrangements for a More Extensive Surgical Department to Cost $9,000.

Owing to the great increase in the amount of surgical work at Lowell's great est charity, St. John's hospital, it has been decided to build an addition, to be devoted entirely to that particular line of work. For more than twenty-five years this institution has been a blessing to the sick and unfortunate of Lowell, and while in its day the building has been amply large to accommodate all its patients, but with the growth of the city, the number of cases of sickness and accidents has grown in proportion, and under present circumstances the building has been found too small for its purpose, namely, to give each patient all the advantages of a modern hospital.

Thus the annex will be constructed to meet all modern requirements, and yesterday the work of excavating preparatory to laying the foundation was begun. The dimensions are 40 by 26 feet, three stories and a basement. The latter will have a dining room for nurses, a laboratory for the house officer, and an extra store room which is much needed. On the first floor will be the apartments in which analyses will be made and bacteriological work done. It will contain the emergency department for the treating of accidents, and every facility will be provided for the comfort of patients and convenience of surgeons. There will also be a lavatory for doctors, etherizing and sterilizing rooms and a private room with two beds for patients whose condition after an operation is such as to make isolation necessary.

The second floor will contain a well appointed pharmacy. There is a great demand for medicine at the hospital and in this any prescription may be filled. There will be three rooms for patients on this floor.

On the third floor will be the operating room for women, a branch of surgery which has grown rapidly of late at the hospital. There are but few institutions of the kind which have had so many cases of ovariotomy and similar operations as St. John's, for Lowell doctors have a reputation for abdominal surgery that is widely extended. This floor will also have two rooms for patients and etherizing and sterilizing rooms. In the surgical departments the floors will be of a strong substance, and the walls of soapstone finish, so that they can be thoroughly washed at any time. They have all the tables, etc., needed and nothing essential will be lacking. It is intended to have the annex entirely modern and capable of attending all kinds of cases.

The architect is Mr. F. W. Stickney, and the estimated cost is $9000 and that expenditure will bring St. John's hospital in line with the best institutions of the country. Only the foundation work has been given out and Mr. P. O'Hearn is doing that. Other contracts are being figured and the work will be rushed as fast as possible.

Notes.

Thomas Dolan, the victim of Saturday night's stabbing affray, is slowly recovering.

James Sheridan, who some time ago received severe injuries to his head, the result it is alleged of being pushed out of a barroom, is about all right physically, though his mind is somewhat confused. He is still at the institution and the physicians have hopes of his recovery.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES.

Mr. Donohoe Wins in the Ward Three Contest—Other Wards.

The democrats of the city assembled in their respective ward rooms last evening to nominate candidates for representative honors. Ward Three was the scene of battle. In the other wards there was no opposition to the candidate in each; and, therefore, all interest centred in the banner ward. Over 1400 ballots were cast in that ward, and when the ballots were counted it was found that Owen M. Donohoe was the successful candidate.

Ward One.

The caucus in this ward was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock. Ex-representative M. J. Garvey was chosen chairman and James H. Smith secretary. Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., in a well worded address eulogistic of the excellent services rendered by Mr. Murphy, moved that he be nominated for representative by acclamation. Councilman O'Brien and James H. Smith seconded the nomination, and the motion was unanimously carried.

Ward Two.

Fisher H. Pearson presided over the caucus here and Thomas J. McLaughlin was secretary. John H. Harrington placed in nomination Mr. John G. Gordon and Peter A. Fay, Esq., seconded the nomination. Mr. Gordon was then unanimously chosen as the democratic nominee for representative.

Ward Three.

There was a grand contest up in this ward. From the time the polls opened at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon till they closed at 10 o'clock in the evening, there was a continual stream of voters pouring up to the ballot box, James Owens, Esq. was chairman; Councilman O'Connor secretary and Peter J. Brady, ballot distributer. The voters came in droves; and clubs marched to the polls to cast their ballots for Owen M. Donohoe. This continued till a Donohoe delegation made their appearance carrying with them a large banner. They created a great furore and marched up to the polls to cast their ballots for their favorite candidate. It was after 1 o'clock before the ballots were counted, and when the result was announced, there was a great uproar. Donahoe's friends congratulated each other, and expressed the greatest satisfaction at the vote received for their favorite.

Here is the vote cast for each candidate:

Owen M. Donohoe	559
Charles L. Marren	212
James Howard	226
Patrick J. Baxter	191
John J. Gilbride	209
Total number of votes	1387
Blanks	18

The nomination of Mr. Donohoe was made unanimous and C. L. Marren made a brief address counselling loyalty to all democratic nominees and exhorting the voters to work hard for the election of Peter J. Brady.

Ward Four.

In this ward delegates were chosen to a convention to act in conjunction with delegates from Ward Five.

Fitzgerald, Thomas J. Flynn, B. F. Murray, Col. J. H. Carmichael, D. A. Sullivan, J. W. Paradis.

Ward Six

The caucus in this ward was very largely attended. Joseph H. Dallagher presided and Thomas O'Day acted as secretary. A. A. Conway presented the name of Philip J. Farley for renomination. He referred to the good service done by Mr. Farley and was pleased to note that it had not passed unnoticed by the voters of Ward Six. Mr. Farley was then unanimously nominated.

GREAT SOLDIER

Sketch of Marshal McMahon's Career.

ACCOUNT OF HIS BRILLIANT MILITARY RECORD.

He Was an Honored Head of the French Republic.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—Field Marshal MacMahon, Duke of Magenta, died yesterday. The end was not unexpected.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—The Berlin newspapers announce Marshal MacMahon's death, but pass few comments. The Post remarks on his "well known integrity and oft-proved valor."

An ex-president of the French republic, a distinguished general and marshal of France, passed away when Marie Edme Patrice Maurice de MacMahon, Duc de Magenta, died. Of late but little has been heard of this distinguished man, but some years back his name was a leading one in the contemporaneous history of the world. Born in Sully, June 12, 1808, the son of the Marquis MacMahon, peer of France and personal friend of Charles X, and the descendant of an Irish family who went into exile with James II, young Maurice was educated at St. Cyr and obtained his first laurels in Algiers.

At the age of 25 he was a captain, and at 40 became a general of brigade. In the Crimea his dashing assault on Malakoff, contrary to the advice and despite the remonstrances of General Niel, resulted in victory and the reception of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, his personal bravery on that occasion calling forth enthusiastic praise from General Pelissier. In the Italian campaign of 1859 he again distinguished himself, and on the battlefield of Magenta was created Duke of Magenta and Marshal of France. It was in that battle that the gallant soldiers saved Napoleon III from capture by the Austrians.

With the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war Marshal MacMahon was placed at the head of the First Corps d'Armee, and he was regarded with general confidence; but a series of reverses met him until in September he was penned up in Sedan, was wounded and taken prisoner. Freed by the subsequent peace he returned to France, and there redeemed his name by reducing the communists in Paris. His policy was to abide by existing institutions, and therefore he accepted the existence of the republic, and though disapproving of it yet took the presidential chair.

He was an aristocrat by birth, an Imperialist by long association and he abhorred democratic free thinking. Furthermore, he himself said he never was a statesman, but a soldier, and that alone. It was understood that an offer had come to him from the Empress Eugenie and M. Rouher, acting for the Prince Imperial, laying down the bribe of the hand of the young Napoleon IV, to be bestowed upon Mlle. MacMahon if her father would aid in overthrowing the Republic and in bringing back the Empire. But the old soldier was honest and could not be bought.

Yet his actions as president were so arbitrary and so oppressive that the state of public affairs was for a time very menacing, and the cry of "Down with MacMahon!" was often heard in the streets. He was compelled to resign in 1879, and the third president, M. Grevy, was elected. The retiring ruler accepted the position manfully, and was the first to call upon his successor after the installation. Since that time he has lived in strict retirement.

His wife was always to him a guide and adviser, and her ambition had much to do in bringing him to the front politically. In his later days, still possessing many of his faculties undimmed, the ex-president of France passed the hours in his large library of military and scientific books, in the study of meteorology, in which he was deeply interested, and in walking and riding.

WEYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 18.—The following telegram, dated Chicago, Oct. 17, 5:25 p. m., was received by Colonel Benjamin F. Lovell, in reply to a telegram sent by him inquiring as to the condition of Commander-in-Chief Adams of the Grand Army.

"Operation successful. No danger apprehended."

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—An operation was performed on Captain Adams at 12:30 o'clock yesterday by Dr. W. L. Tallman and Dr. C. Ferger, which the physicians pronounced most successful. No attempt was made to extract the bullet, but several fragments of bone were removed.

Captain Adams and his wife arrived in the city last Saturday, and went immediately to the suite of rooms they had engaged in the hotel adjoining that of G. S. Merrill, a friend of the family.

Captain Adams came here to see the World's fair, but for many years he has been suffering from two bullet wounds which he received during the war. Dr. Tallman took him in charge to relieve the captain of the pain.

The patient stood the anæsthetic and operation exceedingly well. The time was one hour and 30 minutes, and when he returned to consciousness he was quite hilarious at the removal of the cause of his trouble. He will not have sufficiently recovered to leave his room earlier than three weeks hence.

Fall River Envies Us.

The Fall River Herald speaking of our new city hall and its elegance says:

"We wish that it could be said of our building as can be remarked honestly of the Lowell structure—the people are satisfied with everything pertaining to it. Although there is a difference in favor of our city hall of $60,000, the opinion is general that we have not received our money's worth as they feel that they have in Lowell. Mayor Coughlin voiced the popular feeling when he said in his address in 1891: 'The same amount of money ($300,061.42) would have been sufficient to erect an entirely new building of superior architectural design and much more suitable to the wants and accommodations of the various departments of our municipal government.

MURDERED

Mrs. Carey Probably Killed by Her Husband.

THE EVIDENCE, HOWEVER, IS NOT POSITIVE

But Deemed Sufficient to Warrant His Arrest.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Mary Carey, aged 70 years, was murdered in her own house at Southbridge last Thursday, but the fact did not become known until yesterday—and even now this announcement will be news to many people in that town. She had been separated from her husband for some time, and lived in a little 1 1-2 story house on Morris street, where she kept house for her three sons. Her husband, a dissolute laborer, about 65 years of age, lived in another part of the town.

Last Thursday morning Mrs. Carey's married daughter called to see her mother, and found her lying on the floor in the pantry unconscious. Supposing the old lady was in a faint she lifted her from the floor, placed her in bed and sent for Dr. Edwards. When he arrived he found his patient in a very critical condition.

She had a bruise upon her forehead, where she struck the floor in falling, and another over the left ear. She was also bleeding from the ear. This is not an uncommon symptom accompanying cerebral hemorrhage caused by apoplexy, and the physician so diagnosed the case.

Everything was done for the suffering woman that could be done, but she remained unconscious, and died at 9 o'clock Saturday evening, not having spoken from the time she was found on the pantry floor.

Deputy Sheriff Acts.

Deputy Sheriff Franklin Jacobs, whose attention was drawn to the case, suspected foul play, and, the local medical examiner being away from home, sent for Medical Examiner Keefe. Dr. Keefe received the telephone summons Monday afternoon and went to Southbridge yesterday.

He found the body in the coffin ready for burial and ordered it removed to an undertaker's rooms, where, assisted by Drs. Edwards and Creedon, he performed an autopsy. Its results verified the diagnosis of the attending physician that death was caused by cerebral hemorrhage, but it also developed the fact that this hemorrhage was caused not by apoplexy but by a bullet which entered the woman's left ear and lodged in her brain.

Husband a Drunkard.

The bullet was found and is now in possession of Dr. Keefe, as is the pistol from which it was evidently fired, a little six-chamber 32-caliber revolver of the Defense pattern. This pistol, with one chamber unloaded, was taken from Michael Carey, husband of the murdered woman, by Deputy Sheriff Jacobs last Friday, when the former was arrested on a charge of being a common drunkard. Carey was found guilty Saturday and sentenced to the state farm at Bridgewater.

The only evidence against the old man, so far as now appears, is the possession of the revolver, into whose empty chamber the bullet found in the woman's brain fits perfectly; the fact that he was seen drunk about his wife's house on the morning the murder was committed, and the further fact that he was on bad terms with his wife and had frequently threatened her life.

The woman was alone in the house with her murderer when the desperate deed was committed, and no one has yet been found who heard the fatal shot. The evidence against the husband is thus purely circumstantial, but it justifies his arrest, and that has doubtless already been accomplished. Deputy Sheriff Jacobs came to this city yesterday, and, after a conference with District Attorney Gaskill, procured a warrant and started for Bridgewater.

Quality, Not Quantity.

THE SIZE Of a newspaper is no guarantee of its excellence. The public wants quality, not quantity, in a newspaper. News that is old is not improved by spreading it over a large number of pages, where the reader must hunt to find it. You can read in the padded sheets tomorrow much of what you see in THE SUN today.

It might be said that the aldermen took the first step towards the construction of a new bridge on East Merrimack street, last night, when they passed the resolution for widening of East Merrimack street.

Mayor Pickman must have thought he was presiding over a session of the court, last evening, when at the conclusion of the meeting of the aldermen he remarked: "It is moved and seconded that the court adjourn."

Mr. Lawrence Will Fight

Mr. Abbott Lawrence has been nominated for representative by the republicans of Ward Six, but now some members of the party are in favor of his withdrawal. Mr. Lawrence, however, is in favor of remaining. He prefers to be turned down if at all by the voters of the ward on election day.

Theatre Party.

As an outcome of the bowling match the lady compositors of the Courier and Citizen went to Boston last evening, and attended a performance at the Boston theatre. They enjoyed the show, and after a lunch returned on the theatre train on which they were entertained by two of the Apollos of the Courier office who escorted them home.

SEEN AND HEARD.

A story is now being told of a man who for years had been a fixture at some of the Ward Three refreshment dispensaries. This man had never been naturalized, and probably never would have been had not some of "troops" got at him and poured eloquence and logic into his appreciative mind. They told him that to be naturalized would be the making of him and finally he consented to become a citizen of the United States. The sovereignty of the people, and the part thereof wielded by a single voter had been thoroughly impressed upon him, and on the day appointed he walked into one of his old haunts dressed in his best Sunday clothes. His "gang" could not understand it, and asked why he had dressed up on a week day. He made no answer other than to invite them to the bar. When the glasses had been filled and they were about to wish each other success, the candidate for naturalization suddenly said: "Now boys drink hearty. In the future I will notice yez as I always did but I'll not mingle wid yez any more because when I see yez agin I'll be an American citizen."

Even the new city hall is made food for a joke, and yesterday morning a well known man went into one of the offices to visit a friend of his, an assistant clerk. When the visitor had succeeded in attracting the attention of a number of employes he began examining carefully the locks in the office doors. When asked why he did so, he replied: "I understand that time locks have been put on all the doors which close them promptly at 3 o'clock every day, thus preventing the clerks from working overtime."

"Oh isn't the city hall just lovely said a lady who visited it yesterday. The interior is better than you would expect from the exterior appearance but the surroundings are not what they should be. That lot in front of city hall should be put in proper condition before the snow flies so that it will not be impassable with mud during the winter. While so much has been expended on the new building there is no reason why the surroundings should not be made to accord with the beauty of the edifice."

The new alleys of the Miserables will be the center of attraction for bowlers this winter and we may expect to see records broken and most exciting tournaments carried out. With their present prominence as bowlers the Miserables' best team will in time be able to challenge any team in the state. One thing to be regretted by the members is that President E. P. McOsker will either have to resign or give up his aspirations to be fire chief. How can he respond to fire alarms and attend bowling contests at the same time?

How pleasant it is to walk after a man on the street who is letting volumes of smoke out of his mouth only to be inhaled by those immediately behind him. The men who enjoy an old dudeen along the street seldom think how ridiculous they make themselves by moving around with their pipes in their mouths. Well bred people would not be guilty of such an act of discourtesy. But if it is bad to smoke on the street in a crowd it is still worse to chew and expectorate tobacco juice in all directions.

In this regard if a reform is to be made it should be started at the right end—at the bottom where you meet on the street the little urchin who hails you "g'y me a match please." To some it is a conundrum what he wants with a match but he smokes cigarettes "don't yer know."

AMERICAN MECHANICS

Preparations For a Field Day In Lowell.

The American Mechanics are making elaborate preparations for a field day in this city next Saturday. The two local councils met last evening to perfect the arrangements. Visiting brethren are expected from Nashua and Lawrence.

The committee on parade met at Union hall last evening and selected the following officers: Chief marshall, Clarence Dana; chief of staff, G. L. Hubbard: assistant marshals, S. W. Fletcher, W. W. Simpson, G. W. Huntoon, and Levi Boothby; aids, C. M. Young, W. I. Leach, George S. Gilman, W. H. Monty, J. M. Irvin, J. E. Pattee, Fred Parker, J. M. Locke and William Hills.

The program as outlined contemplates an assembling of Lexington Council at Union hall at 12.30 and of Columbia Council at Odd Fellows' hall at the same hour. As soon as they can get ready both councils will proceed to the South common, where the line will be formed at 1 o'clock. At 2.30 the procession will start and parade through the streets, but the exact route has not yet been decided upon. The committee is to meet again this evening and this matter will be settled.

It was expected that the organization would march to the High school and hoist the flag presented to the committee but the decision of the lands and buildings committee regarding the matter seems to preclude the flag raising.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

First Session in the New and Delightful Quarters.

The first meeting of the board of aldermen in the new city hall was held last evening. It was a regular session and the business transacted was of a routine nature. The galleries were crowded with spectators. Mayor Pickman before calling the meeting to order congratulated the members who were privileged to be the first to sit in the new building. He hoped they would continue in office, to be as faithful and energetic in the transaction of business during the remainder of the year as they have been heretofore. "I ask that you be punctual in everything. I desire to return my thanks to the members of the dedication committee who so ably assisted me in making a success of the dedication ceremonies; to Chief Howard and Chief Hosmer for faithful service rendered during the exercises; to Supt. Bray and his assistant, Mr. Foley, and to Merrill & Cutler, the architects, who voluntarily rendered valuable service."

The following petitions were referred: Of A. C. Persons, that Foster stteet be widened; of Shepard, Russell & Co., that a gas light be placed at the corner of Boylston and Rea streets; of Peter Oleshen, that Billerica street be paved; of A. E. Bertrand, for a sixth class license; of F. Ouilette, for express license; of P. J. Farley, for a bowling license; of J. H. Burke and John Kearney, for transfer of licenses; of John A. Smith, for an electric light on Anne street; of Simon B. Harris et al., for an electric light on Westford street; of Benj Scholefield, for an electric light on Billerica street; of D. W. Fitch, to remodel a wooden building; of Edward McQuade, to alter a roof on a wooden building; of E. S. Hylan that Thomas Carroll be appointed as special officer; of C. M. Young, for an undertaker's license.

Notice was received stating that George W. Jackson, Henry J. Bolan and Thomas McDonough who had been appointed election officers for Ward Four, are not voters of that ward.

Several reports from the street committee were ordered to lie in the clerk's office seven days.

The following resolutions took their final passage: That Beacon street be widened and sidewalks be laid on both sides of the street; that a sidewalk be laid on the westerly side of Livingston avenue in front of the premises of Wm. H. Bent; that East Merrimack street from Merrimack square to Stackpole street be widened and graded and the lines established; William J. Heelon was granted a hack license; Arthur E. Bertrand was granted a sixth class license; Geo. M. Clarke was appointed a special police officer.

At this point Mayor Pickman said that he desired to add to the few remarks he made at the opening. He wished to thank policemen and firemen, especially the firemen, who kindly volunteered their services at the dedicatory exercises. It had come to his notice that several ex-members of the city government had been overlooked in the sending out of invitations. This was not intentional; it was merely an oversight on the part of the clerks who addressed the envelopes.

Aldermen Evans and McDonald were appointed a committee on perambulation of the lines between the city of Lowell and the town of Chelmsford.

The report of the committee on ordinance and legislation was accepted.

The order for the amendment to chapt. 20 of the ordinances, providing for the appointment of an assistant engineer was laid upon the table, on motion of Alderman Westall, the motion being passed by a strict party vote.

The ordinance relative to the regulating of the hack business was referred to the committee on bills in second reading.

The following were appointed to fill the vacancies in the list of election officers in Ward Four: William R. Killpatrick, James N. Connors and John H. O'Neil.

The amendment to chapt. 6 was reported correctly drawn and was passed to be enrolled.

On motion of Alderman Puffer the board adjourned.

OUR THEATRES.

OPERA HOUSE.—The "Land of the Midnight Sun" will be the bill presented this evening. The play has been successfully presented in large cities, and it has just closed a successful engagement in Boston. The advance sale has been good.

A delight to the ladies in the presentation of Lester Wallack's military drama, "Rosedale," by the Grand Opera House Company at the Opera house on Oct. 19, 20 and 21, will be the very fetching gowns worn by Miss Sadie Martinot in the role of Rose Le gh. Miss Martinot has always borne the reputation of being a most lavish and artistic dresser upon the American stage. On this occasion she has had prepared some really lovely toilettes. In the third act, in the scene where she teaches Eliot Grey that delightful old English song, "Lord Bateman was a noble lord," she will wear a gown which sets off her girlish figure and displays the art of the dressmaker perhaps better than any costume seen upon the stage of this town.

The five act sensational comedy drama, "The Hand of Fate," drew a large and well pleased audience last evening. The plot is a romantic one. Percy Melden and Miss Ethel Tucker sustained the leading parts.

The Hotel Barroom Dilemma.

Landlords Shaw and Pattridge who have the most respectable hotels in the city are badly handicapped by the conflict between the license law which requires the back doors of barrooms to be closed and the laws providing for the safety of hotel guests which require the back doors to be kept open. One of these laws imposes a fine for keeping the doors in question open another fixes a penalty for keeping them closed. Which law is to be obeyed? Either or neither?

LIVELY MEETING

OF THE LANDS AND BUILDINGS COMMITTEE.

The American Mechanics Are Refused Permission to Hoist the High School Flag on Saturday—The Building Must be Turned Over to the School Board.

The lands and buildings committee held a very important meeting last evening. The principal question considered was that of granting the American Mechanics permission to raise a flag over the new High School building.

Councilman Stafford stoutly opposed such a move claiming that no society should be allowed to take part in such exercises further than sending a delegation. The The flag raising should be by the High School authorities and the battalion.

The motion to grant the required permission then passed, Councilman Stafford alone voting in the negative.

The councilman then gave notice that at the next meeting he would move a reconsideration.

It was then decided to hold another meeting after the meeting of the city council. The second meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock.

Alderman McDonald said that since the first meeting he had been informed that when the American Mechanics had been given permission nothing was said about a procession. A simple flag raising was all that was asked for. Nothing tending to create sectarian feeling in school matters should be sanctioned.

Councilman Brunnette had also received information such as Alderman McDonald had spoke of. He thought the matter had better be left alone.

Councilman Scott and Alderman Westall spoke in favor of the motion allowing the Mechanics to parade.

Councilman Stafford again spoke in favor of the motion to reconsider. He had always been opposed to societies taking part in flag raisings on school houses.

The vote was then reconsidered and Councilman Stafford moved that the O. U. A. M. be given leave to withdraw on their petition to parade on the occasion of the occasion of the flag raising at the High school next Saturday. Alderman McDonald, Councilmen Stafford and Brunette voted in favor of the motion and Alderman Westall and Councilman Scott against. The motion was declared carried.

There are undoubtedly many people who feel at some time or another unwell, not really sick but very indisposed Now, what such persons need at such times, is not medicine, nor high-priced prescriptions, but what is needed is some gentle, but sure stimulant, something to assist and at the same time enrich the blood; nature will do the rest. For Governor:

JOHN E. RUSSELL.

For Lieut.-Governor:

JAMES B. CARROLL.

For Senator:

PETER J. BRADY.

IF GREENHALGE had only burned that letter.

EVERYONE KNOWS now what senatorial dignity and courtesy means.

THE PROPOSITION to elect United States senators by popular vote ought to receive a hearty endorsement about this time. One of the planks in the Massachusetts democratic platform favors such a change.

IT IS pretty small politics to be forever harping on Candidate Russell's declaration that he would never come to speak again in Lowell. Everyone knows that the utterance came under most irritating circumstances. To carry out the determination would be so very silly that the republican papers might well poke fun at the candidate. To do the sensible thing is always praiseworthy. Give us arguments if you have them and not chaff, brethren of the republican press.

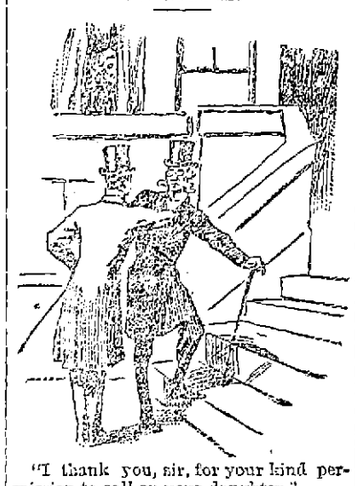

A MAN may be a free trader but he cannot give the people free trade unless they want it. He may be a prohibitionist, yet he cannot prevent the people from making, selling and drinking rum until they get ready to stop. Candidates are men who announce their willingness to serve the people in a particular capacity. They are never elected to do as they please but as the people direct. Officials cannot always follow their own inclinations or convictions. They must do the bidding of the people or get out of office. Garfield was said to be a free trader but he never had an opportunity to sign a free trade bill. John Sherman is anxious to kill the silver bill of which he is the father, but his silver monstrosity still lives. He thought he knew what the people wanted but he didn't. He knows now and is likely to vote as they direct or take the consequences.

A WORD WITH YOU YOUNG MAN.

Young man don't be in too much of a hurry to get riches or honors. You may set it down as a fact supported by the experience of ages, that riches and honors seldom come to men without hard work and personal merit. If you see a chance to get rich without labor or risk, look it over again and see if it is not a trap to rob you of the little you have, or a villainous scheme to rob some one else for your benefit. It is next to impossible in ordinary business or professional channels to get wealthy in a short time and do it honestly. To acquire honor and fame is a most laudable ambition. Before you start out make up your mind that no man ever got either who did not deserve them. Office is no honor in itself. It is often the means of making a man more ridiculous or notorious as it affords him an excellent opportunity of showing the public how little he knows or how contemptible he is. Don't fish for a title unless you are man enough to wear it. Think of all the "Honorables" and "Colonels" that go to make up the great laughing stock of intelligent people. It were better for them that they had remained in obscurity. No office can put brains into a blockhead or give dignity to a cheap brawler. No title can make a gentleman out of a blackguard or bring honor to him who is not already honorable. To fill an office faithfully and efficiently, to wear a title with proper dignity, ability and integrity, requires a first-class man of brains, character, energy and talent. Such men are very scarce. They honor the offices they fill and the titles they wear. These are the men the people like and admire. If you aim high young man, be sure that you aim straight. The highest standard of excellence is moral excellence. A good honest reputation is the best capital you can have to start on. Honesty is the first and most important consideration. If you are industrious that is the next requisite, for you must study hard and work incessantly. Talent comes next in the order of importance and it is a good thing to cultivate. If you have all these you will get there without fail, if you are not in a hurry. Good luck may count for something, but not much. Never depend on it.

And by the way, don't get the idea into your head that all the glory and happiness of this earth comes from public office. Far from it. Don't imagine that all the brainy men are politicians or public speakers. The power of speech is not the greatest of accomplishments. It usually keeps a man in trouble. The "spouter" who talks and says nothing is a public bore. The "parrot" orator who tries to repeat what abler men have said, is getting to be an intolerable nuisance. The ablest living men are not talkers. They are workers. As the great Dougherty said, the days of oratory are over. It is almost a lost art. Nothing short of a genius can pass as an orator these days. If your talents lead you in any other direction let public office alone. It has destroyed more men than it ever made. You can win greater honor and wealth without it. Mayors, governors, congressmen and presidents are very insignificant men when compared with the scientists, philosophers, inventors, the great generals of business and industrial enterprises, the wizards of finance, the giants of the learned professions, the masters of the arts, the authors, poets and mighty thinkers of the world. Read, young man; read until you find out how little you know. Then start right and keep at it.

SUNBEAMS.

"I thank you, sir, for your kind permission to call on your daughter."

"Remember that I turn out the gas at 10 o'clock."

"All right, sir. I'll not come befo that time."—Life.

Evidence of It.

There is a certain member of the Chicago bar who is noted for his low, weak voice and unobtrusive way. On one occasion the gifted Emery A. Storrs came into the office and inquired for this man. A clerk said he was out.

"Oh, no," said Mr. Storrs; "he is in the inner room."

"How do you know that?" asked the clerk, alarmed by the guess.

"How do I know it?" answered Storrs. "Why, it is so darned still!"—Argonaut.

Total Depravity.

"Just think of it!" exclaimed Mr. Lushly's wife. "Just think of it!"

"Just think of what?" asked Lushly.

"This newspaper states that in Belgium there are 150,000 saloons and 5,000 schools."

Lushly was silent in thought.

"What do you think of that?" asked his wife.

"Why—er—ain't that a good many schools for such a small country?"—Washington Star.

Assured of the Future.

"But, Herbert," she said, "think of the future. You are poor, and you cannot surround me with the luxuries to which I have been accustomed."

"But your father"——

"He would do nothing for us."

"Does he play poker?"

"No."

"Then I'll teach him. Trust in me, darling, and have no fear of the future."—Texas Siftings.

All the Same.

"Literature certainly runs in the Greensmith family. The two daughters write poetry that nobody will print, the sons write plays that nobody will act, and the mother writes novels that nobody will read."

"And what does the father write?"

"Oh, he writes checks that nobody will cash."—Press and Printer.

Thought It Was Strange.

Upon one occasion an actor who rarely knew his part deliberately posed through an entire act of "Julius Cæsar" and left the reponsibility of the scene upon the shoulders of his colleagues. They managed to pull through without him by incorporating his lines into their own parts, and when the curtain dropped they went in a body to the culprit's dressing room. He was calmly reading a newspaper when the door was burst open.

"Well, sir," said the irate star, "what do you mean by placing us in such a predicament?"

"What are you talking about?" said the actor.

"What am I talking about? That scene, sir."

"What was the matter with it?"

"Why, you never once opened your mouth; didn't speak a single line, sir."

"Didn't, eh? Well, by Jove, do you know, it struck me the scene hung fire."—Amusement Globe.

His Vocation.

THE KIND THAT CURES

J. R. HERSEY, Spencer, Mass.

"INDIGESTION AND Extreme Constipation."

"My Friends Thought I Must Die."

"I AM NOW A CURED MAN."

The following wonderful statement was sent us by Dr. C. E. Carpentier, Druggist, 140 Main St., Spencer, Mass.

DANA SARSAPARILLA CO.:

Gents:—Some ten years ago I commenced to fail. INDIGESTION next EXTREME CONSTIPATION caused me to lose flesh very fast. I employed Physicians and tried Sarsaparilla, but continued to grow worse. I had a continuous headache, my sight seemed nearly out my friends thought I must die. My strength left me and courage also. This was my condition last February when I commenced to take

DANA'S SARSAPARILLA

Before the first bottle was gone, there was a great improvement. My friends wanted to know what caused such a change in me. I replied "DANA'S SARSAPARILLA." I am now taking my third bottle and consider myself at the age of 40, after Doctors had failed, a CURED MAN.

Yours respectfully, J. R. HERSEY.

How They Parted.

She had laid her subtlest snares
To entrap him unawares
In the ballroom on the stairs
She had cornered him that night.
He could not escape her clutch.
Though he wanted to—so much!
Under circumstances such
There was only hope in flight.

Meanwhile he was forced to prance
With her through the dreamy dance
O'er the ballroom's gay expanse,
Vainly striving to be gay.
Just because she chanced to be
Daughter of his hostess, he
Had to bear her tyranny,
Wishing he was miles away.

When at last he gained the door,
Eager to be free once more,
Radiant was the smile she wore
As she softly said, "Goodby,"
Adding in a whisper low,
While her cheeks were all aglow,
"Tomorrow I'll be home, you know!"
"Ah," he answered. "So will I."

For the benefit of those who contemplate house-keeping, whether on a large or small scale, we have prepared a set of Plans so arranged in goods and prices as to be adapted to the wants of all classes, and which will be found of the greatest assistance to beginners and others who aim to get the best possible results for their money, and which combine the greatest possible usefulness with the least possible expenditure. These Plans will be known as

Robertson's Exclusive Adjustable Plans,

and are the outcome of our very extensive dealings with the public and our thorough knowledge of their requirements. We claim for them the following essential elements, on which we base their success:

ORIGINALITY, BECAUSE no house in proposed or adopted any such plans for securing to the purchaser such benefits as these afford, and because no matter what competitors may promise or hold out in copying these plans (as they undoubtedly will) they must fall far short of the quality, even if the quantity and prices are the same. On this particular point you get our guarantee.

FEASIBILITY, BECAUSE these plans have been originated and prepared by us, not merely for an advertisement, but are intended as a positive benefit to the purchaser in helping him to secure such goods as will give the greatest satisfaction in every respect. AND WE GUARANTEE that the goods set forth in either plan, if taken altogether, shall be found from $15 to $50 cheaper than they can be bought for elsewhere.

POPULARITY, BECAUSE all intending purchasers can find in these plans the realization of their ideas, and because no matter which you accept, you will find it is just exactly as if you had named it yourself.

"BREAKING IN."

Many a man has "broken out" in a passion, and felt all "broken up" trying to get a new pair of shoes "broken in." He has had to "break off" many an engagement on account of crippled feet, and has gone "broke" many a time trying to get relief for his corns—the direct cause of ill-fitting shoes. But nowadays things are different. With the advent of came absolute foot-comfort from the first wearing and no "breaking in" is required. A "good-looking, good-wearing shoe," costing but $3 and worth twice the money.

CONGRESS

Senators Indulge in Unbecoming Personalities.

THE DIGNITY OF THE SENATE FAST DECLINING.

Sherman Appeals to Democrats to Come to an Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The most interesting and important debate that has been heard in the senate chamber during the present session was the one that took place yesterday. Mr. Dolph (Rep., Or.) made a point on Monday evening that the two Populist senators—Allen of Nebraska and Kyle of South Dakota—had not answered to their names, although they were present, and he contended that their presence should be entered in the journal.

Around that question the parliamentary struggle waged all day, and bristled with bitter sarcasm, jibes and personalities. Mr. Dolph having expressed himself as "tired" of all the obstruction, was told by Mr. Harris (Dem., Tenn.) that if he was tired he had better sit down and rest, and that would be a relief to the senator himself and to the senate.

Mr. Hoar made a statement that "On all questions which affect the welfare of the American people by rules, through rules or over rules, by the senate, through the senate or over the senate, the irresistible will of the American people will have its way."

Mr. Hill (Dem., N. Y.) argued in favor of Mr. Dolph's contention. He said that the art of "how to do it" seemed to be the effort of the senate.

Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) spoke of Mr. Hill as a New York politician who had introduced the heresy of counting a quorum when he was president of the New York senate.

Mr. Hill retorted ironically that there were no politicians in Alabama. There they were all statesmen, and he twitted Mr. Morgan's expressed reverence for the constitution of the United States by suggesting that for a certain portion of that senator's career he had been supporting another constitution.

Mr. Morgan spent a good deal of time over what he called a coalition between Democratic and Republican senators, and when Mr. Washburn (Rep., Minn.) denied that there was any such coalition he was tartly stopped by Mr. Morgan, who said that he had not a thought in his mind of the Minnesota senator as one of the Republican leaders.

Then an allusion to the conference of national banks in getting up the coalition was resented by Mr. Gray, who said that it was not true; and when Mr. Morgan asked him whether he wanted to make a personal matter of it, Mr. Gray modified the remark by saying that, so far as he was concerned, it was not true.

Mr. Washburn, having declared his resolve not to be stamped upon or insulted, he was told by Mr. Morgan that he was responsible for what he said, whether in the senate or outside, and added: "You understand that—perfectly responsible."

The great speech of the day was made by Mr. Sherman. He criticised the Democratic senators very severely for their failure to come to some agreement among themselves, and counselled them to do so.

Without arriving at any decision on the question the senate at 5:30 p. m. took a recess until 10 a. m. today.

Caucus Talk.

Senator Sherman's speech caused some of the Democrats to ask whether it was not time for them to agree upon united action. Before the decision had been reached to take a recess until today Mr. Vest began circulating among his colleagues a petition addressed to the chairman of the caucus asking him to issue a call for the caucus. The call, which Mr. Vest had drawn up, was carefully worded, and every man who signed it thereby pledged himself to abide by the decision of that caucus. It was noticeable that when this paper was presented to Democratic repealers they declined, after reading the caption, to sign the request.

It requires 23 Democrats, a majority of the majority, to make this call effective, and, according to the count of the silver Democrats, they have just that number. This estimate includes Mr. Kyle and Mr. Martin, who are, the southern men claim, more Democrats than Populists. Mr. Vest hopes to get some of the repeal Democrats to sign his paper.

It is said that when Mr. Voorhees moved to take a recess, and, as he said, poured oil on the troubled waters, he knew of the contemplated caucus, and thought it best not to push matters pending the attempt of his colleagues to get together.

Democrats Not Pledged.

When asked the point blank question whether or not the administration Democrats would enter this caucus, one of Mr. Voorhees' warmest supporters said there could be no doubt that if the majority ordered the caucuses all Democrats would participate in its deliberations. Not having signed the caucus pledge, they would be free to act for themselves, and while some would not go to the extent of binding themselves beforehand, this senator said he expected much good to grow out of the conference. The mere fact that a caucus was held, if it debate held, was, he said, significant of itself. If the fight for unconditional repeal is to be continued on the lines now laid down, a caucus was absolutely unnecessary. A caucus could mean but one thing, and that was compromise.

It is not probable that the caucus will be held earlier than tonight, and possibly not then. Repeal senators will not admit that the caucus will act contrary to the present attitude of the administration, for they deny that the silver men are in the majority.

In the House.

Mr. Phillips (Rep., Pa.) introduced in the house a bill to provide for the coinage of silver dollars and to maintain them at par. The most striking feature of the bill is the provision:

That in case the silver dollar at any time declines below its face value, and ceases to circulate at par, the secretary of the treasury is then authorized to redeem or exchange for gold said silver dollars on presentation until they shall again be current at their face or par value; and to enable the secretary of the treasury to do this, and for this purpose alone, he is hereby authorized to issue and sell for gold United States 3 percentum bonds interest payable semi-annually in gold and the principal payable in gold in 30 years, but such issues shall not exceed $10,000,000 in any one month nor be more than $100,000,000 in all.

The bill repeals the Sherman act. It provides for the coinage of seigniorage and the retirement of one and two dollar notes from circulation.

While the storm is raging in the senate, there is a great calm in the house. Monday the important bill extending for six months the time in which the Chinese might be permitted to register was passed without opposition. Yesterday a bill dispensing with proof of loyalty in the cases of persons, who, before the war, were entitled to pensions or to bounty lands, was objected to by Mr. Burrows (Rep., Mich.) as far as the pension clause was concerned.

Thereupon Mr. Oates, who had charge of the measure, courteously withdrew the pension clause and the bill was passed. Then came up the proposition for the better control of national banks, and after a cordial exchange of views between its supporters and opponents it was agreed to without even a division. The remainder of the day was consumed in the consideration of the public printing bill. Without disposing of it, the house at 5 o'clock adjourned.

WAS DEEPLY IN DEBT.

Charles Copeland Believed to Have Died by His Own Hand.

EAST BRIDGEWATER, Mass., Oct. 18.—Charles W. Copeland was found dead yesterday afternoon in a field near his house. He started from home in the morning with a double barreled shotgun for the stated purpose of getting some partridges. He appeared in excellent spirits, and had arranged with Mrs. Copeland to go to Boston when he came back. Not returning as soon as anticipated, search was made, and Mr. Copeland's dead body was found with a charge of buckshot through the heart. The gun, however, was lying with the muzzle pointing away from him and near a stone wall, over which Mr. Copeland may have fallen.

The medical examiner decided that death was due to accident, but there is a growing belief that it was suicide. Mr. Copeland was a member of C. W. Copeland & Co., boot and shoe manufacturers, who failed in 1893 for $750,000. The C. W. Copeland Manufacturing company was then organized and their building was burned in 1895. Mr. Copeland then withdrew from the business and has been in the stock and dairy farming business. His property has been heavily mortgaged and a foreclosure was to have been made on his household property yesterday, a keeper being in charge.

Friends Think He Is Demented.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Nathan Wolfe, one of the principal witnesses in the Schlass case, in which Drs. Whitten and Lee were acquitted, has mysteriously disappeared. His family fear that the strain he underwent has made him demented. Wolfe was first a witness for the state and afterward went on the stand for the defence, admitting that he had perjured himself by his first testimony in order to shield Cash, who was on trial as an accessory.

Nutmeg State Knights of Honor.

HARTFORD, Oct. 18.—The grand council of the Knights of Honor of Connecticut held its 16th annual session in Odd Fellows' hall here. The following officers were elected: Grand dictator, George W. Daines of East Litchfield; grand vice dictator, Phineas A. Spencer of Meriden; grand assistant dictator, J. L. Barrett of Ansonia; grand treasurer, James A. Kelsey of Middletown; grand reporter, C. W. Skiff of Danbury.

Asquith and the Peers.

LONDON, Oct. 18. — Herbert Asquith, home secretary, speaking in Glasgow last evening, denied the right of the house of lords to force a dissolution of parliament. The electors themselves should be blamed, he said, for tolerating a system which placed the gigantic power in such irresponsible hands as those of the peers. He denied that the ministers intended to reintroduce the home rule bill in the next session.

Loose Finances Alleged.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Application was made in the superior court here asking for the removal of John B. Wallace as trustee of the insolvent Electrical Supply company of Ansonia on the grounds that Wallace owes the concern over $100,000. The court has been asked to order the books of the insolvent firm of Wallace & Sons of Ansonia inspected by an expert, as they were greatly muddled.

Seventeen Men Badly Injured.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 18.—A freight engine and train collided with a car containing 70 employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad company returning from their work in the lower yard to this city. The car was broken up and the hot stove overturned among the men, 17 of whom were very seriously injured.

Killed His Sister and Himself.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Jacob Winter, 28 years old, a truck driver, shot and killed his sister Louisa last night. Winter then shot himself in the head and died instantly. The cause of the shooting is said to be because the girl received the attentions of a barber against her brother's wishes.

Jewelers Out of Pocket.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 18.—The manufacturing jewelry trade was surprised by the news of the failure in Chicago of Adolph Shakeman, a wholesale jobber of that city. The losses to the manufacturers in Providence and Attleboro, Mass., are about $50,000, and the total, it is said, will reach $75,000.

Riotous Strikers.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A mob of striking coal miners at St. Helen's attacked a party of non-union miners. The non-unionists were beaten severely. The police charged the rioters, but the miners drove them into the colliery offices. Many policemen were injured.

Boat and Crew Lost.

BUFFALO, Oct. 18.—The schooner F. C. Leighton, with a crew of seven men, is reported to have gone down near Gravelly Bay with all on board some time during Saturday night's storm. The boat left Toledo for Buffalo last Wednesday.

Business Block Destroyed.

MANKATO, Kan., Oct. 18.—The principal business block in this town was destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $60,000.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA

Continue to Hobnob While Germany Looks on In Rage.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—At the president's dinner last night in honor of the visiting Russians, 104 covers were laid. After the dinner Mme. Carnot with Admiral Avelan opened the ball. The whole diplomatic corps had been invited. The Paris journalists entertained the visiting Russian correspondents at dinner.

When Admiral Avelan and his staff appeared on the balconies to answer the cheers of the crowd, the admiral, after bowing three times, put the French national standard to his lips and kissed it.

The crowd in the streets is beyond anything seen in recent years. The evening newspapers are very Chauvinistic. They comment upon the coming of the Russians as if the two nations were already together in the field and a war were half won. Several quote from foreign newspapers to show that the fetes are provoking the fury of German statesmen and editors.

BELCHERTOWN EXCITED

Over a Domestic Row Which Promises to Be Ventilated in Court.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 18.—The town of Belchertown is agitated over a domestic trouble which will doubtless soon be tested in the courts. Clinton, son of Selectman Nelson Randall, accuses his wife of having deceived him by foisting a Brooklyn foundling upon him as his own child. Mrs. Randall denies the charge, and documentary evidence is held by each party.

Unfortunately, the birth of Mrs. Randall's child is not recorded in Brooklyn, where it is alleged to have been born on May 1, 1891. Mr. Randall is accused of having deserted his wife through the influence of his father.

Suit is threatened by the husband for divorce, and by the wife against Nelson Randall for conspiracy to alienate the affections of his son from the wife. Mr. Randall believes his wife is deranged, and she says the same of him.

Captain Head's Experience.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Captain William E. Head, a wealthy Irish land owner, county Tipperary, Ireland, bearing the position of police magistrate, stopped at the Harrison street police station last night. Since his arrival he has been duped right and left in America, and finds himself penniless. Captain Head arrived in Boston Sept. 21. He carried letters of introduction to the British ambassador in Washington, and he was soon in the capital city. He registered at the national hotel there and it was here he met his first introduction to American confidence men, who stole his pocketbook containing $500, his watch and chain and other valuables.

Sued For Divorce.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Patrick Willis, for many years a prominent Democratic politician in this city, but now employed in New York, has been sued for absolute divorce and alimony by his wife, who resides here. Property in this city has been attached to the amount of $10,000. The complainant alleges that Willis lived for several years with a woman in New York as his wife. Willis is reputed to be well off financially.

Company Must Move.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Judge Hall has filed his decision in the case of William H. Clay et al. against the Waterbury Wheel and Spoke company. The plaintiffs claim that the steam from the factory and the noise was a nuisance. Judge Hall found the allegations true, and the company can no longer carry on their business at that location.

Robbed the Government.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—The case of Boyd, Ryne & Campbell, wholesale stationers, who are charged with defrauding the customs, is said to be one of the worst ever brought to the notice of the customs department. False invoicing, undervaluation and smuggling are all charged, and this, it is said, has been going on for several years.

Caprivi Displeased.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Chancellor Von Caprivi has decided to stop the attempt made by several journals to make trouble between him and Count Bobbo Fulenburg, Prussian minister resident. Caprivi's friends says that reports of their mutual jealousies are malicious lies.

Spanish Steamer Overdue.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Fears are felt for the safety of the Spanish steamer Ciudad Condal, which sailed for this port from Havana on Oct. 10, and was due here on Saturday. She carries a crew of 72 men.

Cattle Thief Summarily Dealt With.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Oct. 18.—William Jones, wanted for stealing cattle from the Cherokee strip, opened fire on a posse, who attempted to arrest him. The officers returned the fire, instantly killing Jones.

Cherokee Bonds Sold.

FORT GIBSON, I. T., Oct. 18.—The $600,000 of Cherokee Strip bonds are sold. The Cherokee delegation signed the agreement with representatives of an English syndicate.

Windle Beats Meintjes' Record.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 18.—W. W. Windle, in an attempt at the five-mile bicycle record here, reduced the three-mile mark of 6:45 1-5, made by Meintjes, to 6:43. He fell behind the record on the fourth mile and stopped.

Connecticut Financier Dead.

DANBURY, Conn., Oct. 18.—Frederick Seymour Williman, ex-treasurer of Connecticut, is dead. He was 83 years old, and was one of the oldest active bankers in the country. In his earlier days he was prominent in politics.

Quality, Not Quantity.

THE SIZE Of a newspaper is no guarantee of its excellence. The public wants quality, not quantity, in a newspaper. Inspector Condon who is here to inspect the work on the new post office expects the exterior work will be completed in three weeks, and that the interior will be so far advanced during the winter that the building may be occupied in the spring.

Mr. Lawrence Will Fight.

Mr. Abbott Lawrence has been nominated for representative by the republicans of Ward Six, but now some members of the party are in favor of his withdrawal. Mr. Lawrence, however, is in favor of remaining. He prefers to be turned down if at all by the voters of the ward on election day.

Theatre Party.

As an outcome of the bowling match the lady compositors of the Courier and Citizen went to Boston last evening, and attended a performance at the Boston theatre. They enjoyed the show, and after a lunch returned on the theatre train on which they were entertained by two of the Apollos of the Courier office who escorted them home.

SEEN AND HEARD.

A story is now being told of a man who for years had been a fixture at some of the Ward Three refreshment dispensaries. This man had never been naturalized, and probably never would have been had not some of "troops" got at him and poured eloquence and logic into his appreciative mind. They told him that to be naturalized would be the making of him and finally he consented to become a citizen of the United States. The sovereignty of the people, and the part thereof wielded by a single voter had been thoroughly impressed upon him, and on the day appointed he walked into one of his old haunts dressed in his best Sunday clothes. His "gang" could not understand it, and asked why he had dressed up on a week day. He made no answer other than to invite them to the bar. When the glasses had been filled and they were about to wish each other success, the candidate for naturalization suddenly said: "Now boys drink hearty. In the future I will notice yez as I always did but I'll not mingle wid yez any more because when I see yez agin I'll be an American citizen."

Even the new city hall is made food for a joke, and yesterday morning a well known man went into one of the offices to visit a friend of his, an assistant clerk. When the visitor had succeeded in attracting the attention of a number of employes he began examining carefully the locks in the office doors. When asked why he did so, he replied: "I understand that time locks have been put on all the doors which close them promptly at 3 o'clock every day, thus preventing the clerks from working overtime."

"Oh isn't the city hall just lovely said a lady who visited it yesterday. The interior is better than you would expect from the exterior appearance but the surroundings are not what they should be. That lot in front of city hall should be put in proper condition before the snow flies so that it will not be impassable with mud during the winter. While so much has been expended on the new building there is no reason why the surroundings should not be made to accord with the beauty of the edifice."

The new alleys of the Miserables will be the center of attraction for bowlers this winter and we may expect to see records broken and most exciting tournaments carried out. With their present prominence as bowlers the Miserables' best team will in time be able to challenge any team in the state. One thing to be regretted by the members is that President E. P. McOsker will either have to resign or give up his aspirations to be fire chief. How can he respond to fire alarms and attend bowling contests at the same time?

How pleasant it is to walk after a man on the street who is letting volumes of smoke out of his mouth only to be inhaled by those immediately behind him. The men who enjoy an old duleen along the street seldom think how ridiculous they make themselves by moving around with their pipes in their mouths. Well bred people would not be guilty of such an act of discourtesy. But if it is bad to smoke on the street in a crowd it is still worse to chew and expectorate tobacco juice in all directions.

In this regard if a reform is to be made it should be started at the right end—at the bottom where you meet on the street the little urchin who hails you "g'y me a match please." To some it is a conundrum what he wants with a match but he smokes cigarettes "don't yer know."

When in doubt, smoke Old Hundred.

AMERICAN MECHANICS

Preparations For a Field Day In Lowell.

The American Mechanics are making elaborate preparations for a field day in this city next Saturday. The two local councils met last evening to perfect the arrangements. Visiting brethren are expected from Nashua and Lawrence.

The committee on parade met at Union hall last evening and selected the following officers: Chief marshall, Clarence Dana; chief of staff, G. L. Hubbard; assistant marshals, S. W. Fletcher, W. W. Simpson, G. W. Huntoon, and Levi Boothby; aids, C. M. Young, W. I. Leach, George S. Gilman, W. H. Monty, J. M. Irvin, J. E. Pattee, Fred Parker, I. M. Locke and William Hillis.

The program as outlined contemplates an assembling of Lexington Council at Union hall at 12.30 and of Columbia Council at Odd Fellows' hall at the same hour. As soon as they can get ready both councils will proceed to the South common, where the line will be formed at 1 o'clock. At 2.30 the procession will start and parade through the streets, but the exact route has not yet been decided upon. The committee is to meet again this evening and this matter will be settled.

It was expected that the organization would march to the High school and hoist the flag presented to the committee but the decision of the hands and buildings committee regarding the matter seems to preclude the flag raising.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

First Session in the New and Delightful Quarters.

The first meeting of the board of aldermen in the new city hall was held last evening. It was a regular session and the business transacted was of a routine nature. The galleries were crowded with spectators. Mayor Pickman before calling the meeting to order congratulated the members who were privileged to be the first to sit in the new building. He hoped they would continue in office, to be as faithful and energetic in the transaction of business during the remainder of the year as they have been heretofore. "I ask that you be punctual in everything. I desire to return my thanks to the members of the dedication committee who so ably assisted me in making a success of the dedication ceremonies; to Chief Howard and Chief Hosmer for faithful service rendered during the exercises; to Supt. Bray and his assistant, Mr. Foley, and to Merrill & Cutler, the architects, who voluntarily rendered valuable service."

The following petitions were referred: Of A. C. Persons, that Foster street be widened; of Shepard, Russell & Co., that a gas light be placed at the corner of Boylston and Rea streets; of Peter Oleshen, that Billerica street be paved; of A. E. Bertrand, for a sixth class license; of F. Ouilette, for express license; of P. J. Farley, for a bowling license; of J. H. Burke and John Kearney, for transfer of licenses; of John A. Smith, for an electric light on Anne street; of Simon B. Harris et al., for an electric light on Westford street; of Benj. Scholefield, for an electric light on Billerica street; of D. W. Fitch, to remodel a wooden building; of Edward McQuade, to alter a roof on a wooden building; of E. S. Hylan that Thomas Carroll be appointed as special officer; of C. M. Young, for an undertaker's license.

Notice was received stating that George W. Jackson, Henry J. Bolan and Thomas McDonough who had been appointed election officers for Ward Four, are not voters of that ward.

Several reports from the street committee were ordered to lie in the clerk's office seven days.

The following resolutions took their final passage: That Beacon street be widened and sidewalks be laid on both sides of the street; that a sidewalk be laid on the westerly side of Livingston avenue in front of the premises of Wm. H. Bent; that East Merrimack street from Merrimack square to Stackpole street be widened and graded and the lines established; William J. Heelon was granted a hack license; Arthur E. Bertrand was granted a sixth class license; Geo. M. Clarke was appointed a special police officer.

At this point Mayor Pickman said that he desired to add to the few remarks he made at the opening. He wished to thank policemen and firemen, especially the firemen, who kindly volunteered their services at the dedicatory exercises. It had come to his notice that several ex-members of the city government had been overlooked in the sending out of invitations. This was not intentional; it was merely an oversight on the part of the clerks who addressed the envelopes.

Aldermen Evans and McDonald were appointed a committee on perambulation of the lines between the city of Lowell and the town of Chelmsford.

The report of the committee on ordinance and legislation was accepted.

The order for the amendment to chapt. 20 of the ordinances, providing for the appointment of an assistant engineer was laid upon the table, on motion of Alderman Westall, the motion being passed by a strict party vote.

The ordinance relative to the regulating of the hack business was referred to the committee on bills in second reading.

The following were appointed to fill the vacancies in the list of election officers in Ward Four: William R. Killpartrick, James N. Connors and John H. O'Neil.

The amendment to chapt. 6 was reported correctly drawn and was passed to be enrolled.

On motion of Alderman Puffer the board adjourned.

OUR THEATRES.

OPERA HOUSE.—The "Land of the Midnight Sun" will be the bill presented this evening. The play has been successfully presented in large cities, and it has just closed a successful engagement in Boston. The advance sale has been good.

A delight to the ladies in the presentation of Lester Wallack's military drama, "Rosedale," by the Grand Opera House Company at the Opera house on Oct. 19, 20 and 21, will be the very fetching gowns worn by Miss Sadie Martinot in the role of Rose Leigh. Miss Martinot has always borne the reputation of being a most lavish and artistic dresser upon the American stage. On this occasion she has had prepared some really lovely toilettes. In the third act, in the scene where she teaches Eliot Grey that delightful old English song, "Lord Bateman was a noble lord," she will wear a gown which sets off her girlish figure and displays the art of the dressmaker perhaps better than any costume seen upon the stage of this town.

The five act sensational comedy drama, "The Hand of Fate," drew a large and well pleased audience last evening. The plot is a romantic one. Percy Melden and Miss Ethel Tucker sustained the leading parts.

The Hotel Barroom Dilemma.

Landlords Shaw and Partridge who have the most respectable hotels in the city are badly handicapped by the conflict between the license law which requires the back doors of barrooms to be closed and the laws providing for the safety of hotel guests which require the back doors to be kept open. One of these laws imposes a fine for keeping the doors in question open another fixes a penalty for keeping them closed. Which law is to be obeyed? Either or neither?

The hours for registration at the new City hall are 1 to 2 and from 7 to 9 p. m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, and from 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next week, and from 12 o'clock noon to 10 p. m. on Saturday, the 28th. Evening School Registration.

Registration is now going on in the evening schools and if the numbers are more than anticipated by the committee additional rooms will be opened in several of the schools. The pupils who can attend should therefore make application as early as possible. Registration for the evening high school is being conducted in the old Mann school. This building will be vacated by the High school next Monday.

LIVELY MEETING

OF THE LANDS AND BUILDINGS COMMITTEE.

The American Mechanics Are Refused Permission to Hoist the High School Flag on Saturday—The Building Must be Turned Over to the School Board.

The lands and buildings committee held a very important meeting last evening. The principal question considered was that of granting the American Mechanics permission to raise a flag over the new High School building.

Councilman Stafford stoutly opposed such a move claiming that no society should be allowed to take part in such exercises further than sending a delegation. The The flag raising should be by the High School authorities and the battalion.

The motion to grant the required permission then passed, Councilman Stafford alone voting in the negative.

The councilman then gave notice that at the next meeting he would move a reconsideration.

It was then decided to hold another meeting after the meeting of the city council. The second meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock.

Alderman McDonald said that since the first meeting he had been informed that when the American Mechanics had been given permission nothing was said about a procession. A simple flag raising was all that was asked for. Nothing tending to create sectarian feeling in school matters should be sanctioned.

Councilman Brunnette had also received information such as Alderman McDonald had spoke of. He thought the matter had better be left alone.

Councilman Scott and Alderman Westall spoke in favor of the motion allowing the Mechanics to parade.

Councilman Stafford again spoke in favor of the motion to reconsider. He had always been opposed to societies taking part in flag raisings on school houses.

The vote was then reconsidered and Councilman Stafford moved that the O. U. A. M. be given leave to withdraw on their petition to parade on the occasion of the occasion of the flag raising at the High school next Saturday. Alderman McDonald, Councilmen Stafford and Brunette voted in favor of the motion and Alderman Westall and Councilman Scott against. The motion was declared carried.

There are undoubtedly many people who feel at some time or another unwell, not really sick but very indisposed. Now, what such persons need at such times, is not medicine, nor high-priced prescriptions, but what is needed is some gentle, but sure stimulant, something to assist and at the same time enrich the blood; nature will do the rest.
